California Panel Votes 'No' on End To Death Penalty

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A marathon, 12 1/4 hour hearing ended early today with narrow defeat in the California Legislature for Gov. Edmund G. Brown's bill to repeal the death penalty.

The 8-7 vote by the Senate Judiciary Committee may have shattered Caryl Chessman's last hope in his 11 1/2 year fight to escape the gas chamber.

Sen. Edwin J. Regan, committee chairman, had said before the hearing he expected the Senate to adjourn the special session on capital punishment the day after committee action on the bill if it was defeated. He indicated adjournment was expected today.

Introduction of a similar bill in the Assembly was not planned and no further legislative action was expected on the death penalty before Chessman's scheduled execution May 2.

It was Brown's reprieve of the convict-author and his calling of a special session on capital punishment that touched off the great debate.

Yet, as if by tacit agreement, not a single witness mentioned the controversial prisoner by name.

The long, almost subdued hearing by the all-lawyer committee began at 9 a.m. Wednesday before a jam-packed audience. It ended at 1 a.m. on a dramatic note.

Deputy District attorney J.
Miller Leavy of Los Angeles disclosed that Barbara Graham, fourth woman to be executed in California history, confessed her guilt in the last few minutes of her life in 1955.

He said the 32-year-old convicted slayer of an elderly widow made the admission to the late Warden Harley O. Teets of San Quentin prison.

Leavy, who was Chessman's prosecutor, was the final witness.
He said he related the Graham story because a movie of her life left the impression she was innocent.

Even as the Senate committee debated the death penalty question, the California Supreme Court Wednesday turned down Chess-man's latest petition. This one challenged legality of his new May 2 execution date.

A. L. Wirin, one of his attorneys, told newsmen here the decision ended Chessman's court appeals.

"Chessman's fate is now entirely in the hands of the governor unless the Legislature takes favorable action," he said.

Brown, after giving Chessman a 60-day reprieve Feb. 19, said he would let him die if the state's lawmakers rejected his plea to abolish capital punishment.

The 38-year-old prisoner was convicted in 1948 on charges of kidnap-robbery which involved forcing two young women to perform an unnatural sex act.

The Senate committee listened to proponents of repeal for seven hours. It wasn't until 8:30 p.m. that opponents—chiefly law enforcement officers—stepped up to the witness stand in the theater-type hearing room.

Witnesses supporting the bill hit two main themes: That capital punishment does not deter crime; That it is "barbaric" and "brutalizes society."

Political Trail In Wisconsin Is Well-Trod

LACROSSE, Wis. (AP)—
The Wisconsin campaign trail continued to be a well-beaten path today for Democratic candidates for the presidential nomination and their supporters.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.)
left the state at midnight to return to Washington but left his wife, Jackie, and brother, Ted, to speak for him.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) Kennedy's opponent in the April 5 Wisconsin presidential primary, prepared to fly to this state for another extensive speaking engagement.

Both hope to get the 31 votes that will be cast by Wisconsin delegates to the National Democratic Convention this summer.

Kennedy wound up a busy day in Wisconsin with a speech before about 2,500 enthusiastic supporters here Wednesday night with a declaration that the "Democrats can do the job that must be done" better than the Republicans.

Humphrey plans to attend meetings Saturday in southeastern Wisconsin and on Sunday will speak at Rhinelander. Monday and Tuesday were set aside for campaigning in Milwaukee and southeastern Wisconsin areas.

The only other survivor is his widow, Jennie.

Retired Logan Retailer, Father of Editor, Dies

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—John Rochester, active in various retail enterprises in Logan for 60 years and father of Robert S. Rochester, editor of the Washington Court House Record-Herald, died today at 85.

In his younger years, the elder Rochester and an associate William Gaffney, laid out many of the railroad lines which opened up the West Virginia coal fields. He retired 10 years ago.

The only other survivor is his widow, Jennie.

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—The Castro government is taking over the multimillion-dollar properties of the Moa Bay Mining Co. to prevent their shutdown by the American owners, reliable sources say.

NIXON, KENNEDY CHEERED — In Madison, Wis., Senator John F. Kennedy (top, with his wife) said his New Hampshire victory in the Democratic primary was a "vote of confidence." Vice President Richard Nixon (bottom, center), discussing his victory with New Hampshire Senators Norris Cotton (left) and Styles Bridges, said the record turnout of Republicans "was particularly gratifying to me."

Senate Scheduled To Vote On Rights Debate Limitation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate votes today on a petition to clamp a time limit on its civil rights debate, now in its fourth week and likely to continue.

Almost simultaneously, the House starts debate on a civil rights bill that is far less objectionable to Southern opponents than the measure before the Senate.

U.S. Presses Its Tax Case Against Solon

NEW YORK (AP)—The government says it will prove frauds
"of far greater value" than the current charges against Rep.
Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-N.Y.) on trial on income tax evasion charges.

The trial continues today.
A three-count indictment against the Negro congressman accuses him of cheating the government out of $3,063 in income taxes on the 1951 return of his wife, Negro pianist Hazel Scott, and on their 1952 joint return.

Mrs. Powell is not a defendant.
Asst. U.S. Atty. Morton S. Robson, in his opening remarks Wednesday told an all-white jury of nine men and three women:
"Mrs. Powell had nothing to do with it. She had gone to Europe the month before and the preparation of her return was supervised and controlled by her husband, the defendant."

Robson charged that Powell had made tax payments of about $1,700 for a two-year period in which income of both husband and wife totaled $160,000.

Powell, 51, faces a maximum of 15 years in prison and $30,000 in fines if found guilty on all three counts in the indictment against him.

Harrison Twp. Schedules Special Election

Harrison Twp. will conduct a special election on a proposed zoning ordinance. It will be held June 14.
The proposed zoning regulations are to apply to the unincorporated area of Harrison Twp., excluding Ashville. This is the third Pickaway County township to conduct a special election on zoning regulations.

Scioto and Madison Twp. successfully passed zoning ordinances in special elections.

4-Year-Old Unware Foster Parents May Lose Her; She's 'Too Bright'

OLD BRIDGE, N.J. (AP)—
"Mommy" the child cried suddenly in the middle of the night.
"Mommy, are you still there?"

Mrs. Richard Combs jumped out of bed and ran into the little girl's room. "Yes, Alice, I'm here," she said. And she patted the child's head and the child went back to sleep.

But Mrs. Combs never got back to sleep. For the rest of the night, she says, she lay awake worrying about that sudden flash of terror that shook the sleep of her 4-year-old foster child. How much did the girl now know or begin to suspect?

Had she begun to feel a vague sense of menace in this whole, new, wonderful, exciting confusion of strangers taking her picture and asking her questions and putting her on television?

Little brown-eyed Alice hasn't been told that the world may be trembling beneath her. That the Combses are not her real parents, that the two younger girls in the house are not her real sisters.

That the state child welfare board opposes her adoption by the Combses because, it says, they're not suited for the development of an unusually intelligent child.
That three men in a court in Trenton will soon decide whether she remains with the only parents she knows.

"Daddy," asked Alice, "Why are these men taking all these pictures?"

"Because you're such a pretty girl."

And that seemed explanation enough, at least in her waking life. Since Sunday night, when the telephone calls started from as far away as California and Canada, Alice has been flying high.
In the excitement, she seldom lights anywhere. She poses for photographers fitfully answers questions, shows off with wild leaps onto a chair or a bed or into the arms of a reporter.

"Alice," "What do you want to be when you grow up?"

Southern Ohio Socked By Another Snowfall

5 Children Found in Rubble

10-Day-Old Quake
Area Still Searched

RABAT (AP)—Rescue workers today pulled five weak and dazed children from the rubble of Agadir, which was virtually destroyed by an earthquake 10 days ago.

The Moroccan state radio carried the report that the children were found in wreckage of the Moroccan quarter, which was 90 per cent destroyed.

The rescue brought to 10 the number of survivors pulled out in the last three days—after almost all hope had been given up of find-

The children ranged from 6 to 15 years old. One was a Moslem and four were Jewish children.
About half the 2,400 Jews in Agadir are estimated to have died in the earthquake.

Finding the latest survivors spurred rescue workers who are combing the city and using air hammers and other equipment to raise and probe bits of wreckage.

Efforts centered in the native quarter, where engineers teams carefully combed the entire area, and in the region of the collapsed Hotel Saada, where faint voices are reported to have been heard.

The workers in the town are now mainly Moroccan soldiers and a company of American engineers. The French have offered to land 700 sailors to continue rescue work if they should be needed.

The city is still cordoned off by troops and has been completely sprayed with chlorine, D.D.T., quicklime and other disinfectants.
Up to 12,000 persons are estimated to have died in the quake.

Of these, two are Americans.
They are Mrs. Werner Bauer, of Placentia Calif., whose body was pulled from the family's apartment, and her daughter, Norene, who died Wednesday at the U.S.
Naval Hospital at Port Lyautey.

Rescued Sailors Now Sport Smiles

HONOLULU (AP)—Four Soviets, long-haired when rescued after drifting 49 days in the Pacific and almost starving to death, are sporting American-style crew cuts today—and happy smiles.

The U.S. Aircraft Carrier Kearsarge picked up the famished men Sunday from their 50-foot landing craft which had drifted 1,000 stormy miles into the Pacific from Etorofu-To Island in the Kuriles.

They had only some vodka, their canteens, three cans of beef and a loaf of bread during their ordeal, plus what rain water they could gather. They ate shoe leather in their hunger, they said. Each lost from 35 to 40 pounds.

Mine Rescuers Pushing Efforts

LOGAN, W.Va. (AP)—Mine officials today extended for a few hours more the target time when they expect to reach 18 men trapped four miles inside a fire-blocked coal mine.

Rescue crews had hoped to tear through the last barricade and reach the stranded men by mid-morning. But after that time had passed, word was issued that the time had been extended a few hours.

That has been the story since the 18 men were trapped behind a slate fall and smoldering fire last Tuesday morning in the Island Creek Coal Co.'s No. 22 Mine at nearby Holden.

The hours have turned into days.

There has been no contact with the 18 since noon Tuesday when the telephone connection with them went dead, apparently cut by the fire.

Temperatures weren't so cold at the scene Wednesday night. Unofficially the low was 19 degrees above zero, compared with 11
above the night before.

More than a foot of new snow from Wednesday's near-blizzard blanketed the grimy mine buildings, one of which bore a red neon sign with the words, "Be careful."

The snow subsided to flurries

during the morning, but leaden skies held promise of more.

The mine officials said the stubborn fire which has held the men trapped is practically under control and they expect rescuers to move on "as rapidly as possible."

Flight Policy May Irk Ally

West German Chief Due Here Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. decision against resuming high altitude plane flights to West Berlin may complicate President Eisenhower's summit policy talks here next week with German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Adenauer is coming to Washington next Tuesday to urge a stiff American stand on German and Berlin issues in the summit negotiations with the Soviet Union at Paris next May.

He is known, furthermore, to be suspicious of any Allied action which might be construed as a sign of weakness or lack of resolve. Diplomats say he may take the new U.S. decision as such an action.

In an effort to forestall any misunderstanding by Adenauer of the official U.S. position Secretary of State Christian A. Herter sent word to Bonn late Tuesday advising that the decision had been made and providing an explanation as to the reason.

The decision was announced publicly Wednesday by Herter at his news conference. He said Eisenhower had decided "that there is no operational necessity at the present time" for flying the corridors to Berlin above the 10,000-foot level in defiance of Soviet objections and possibly dangerous counterattacks.

This was a complete reversal of the U.S. position on high altitude flights as it had been agreed with Britain and France about two weeks earlier.

The decision at that time was that flights would be resumed shortly and the Soviet Union would be given advance notice. Although that was not announced it became known, and officials said the reason was that jet-powered aircraft operate most efficiently above 10,000 feet.

Finch Trial Report: 'Jury Is Still Out'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Tension as tangible as the smog outside fills the Los Angeles County courthouse. The word moves constantly from person to person:

"The jury's still out."
Five men and seven women are in their sixth day of deliberating the guilt or innocence of Dr. R.
Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff.

Dr. Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 23, are charged with murder and conspiracy in the shooting of the doctor's wife. Both counts carry a possible death penalty.

Forecast Says More Coming

6-Inch Accumulation Recorded in Marietta

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

On Feb. 2, Mr. Groundhog predicted six more weeks of winter for Ohio. The prediction was emphasized Wednesday when Southern Ohio got another clobbering with snow. And more is coming.

Five inches of new snow plopped into the Cincinnati area, snarling traffic and closing schools. The remainder of the state counted itself fairly lucky with depths diminishing to the north. Columbus reported two inches of new snow from the storm but Cleveland escaped entirely.

The snowfall in the southern sector generally totaled four inches on top of the remnants of last week's big snow.

Predictions were that more snow is in store for Ohio tonight and Friday after a lull today.

The State Highway Patrol reported that most roads are snow-covered and slippery, especially in the southern half of the state.

Jackson and Wilmington reported four inches of snow and Piqua measured at least four with the snow still falling. Marietta topped them with six inches.

Wednesday's blizzard romped out of Kentucky after burying that state with deep snow. The Weather Bureau reported that a similar storm was being concocted in the Oklahoma panhandle area, where Wednesday's originated.

Schools reported closed by the storm include: Lebanon, through Thursday; West Union, Peebles, Franklin, Jefferson and some in Scioto county until Monday; Brown County, indefinitely. Vinton County schools were closed for Thursday with others expected to follow.

In Cincinnati, many travelers and commuters packed downtown

Winter Still Flexes Muscle In This Area

"Old Man Winter" is making one last violent surge before turning over the season reins to "Happy Spring" and is doing a right good job of it.

For the fourth time in less than a month Pickaway County received a heavy snowfall last night. Approximately three inches of snow, sleet, rain and frozen rain fell, turning highways and roads into hazardous avenues of travel.

State Highway and County Engineering officials reported they have been battling the snow since it started falling at noon yesterday.

Both reported it was impossible to clear roads until the snow eased up around 10 p.m. yesterday.
State Highway officials reported primary highways are clear and wet, while secondary roads are snow covered and slippery.

ENGINEER supervisor, Ed Shell-hammer said at noon today that county roads have been plowed back twice, but still are not safe for driving.

Highway employees worked throughout the night while county personnel stayed until 2 a.m. today and started back at 7 a.m.

Both departments feel roads will be safe by nightfall, but a slight wind was causing drifts. The county had eight snow plows, eight sanders and salt spinners and one grader at work.

The highway department used nine plows and one grader until midnight, before slacking off to five plows. It was back in full force today.

Each department said this is the greatest siege of snow covered highways in recent years. They said they get the roads clear, then another heavy snow descends.

A total of 0.21 inch of melted snow was recorded today. The forecast calls for the temperature to reach 28 to 30 degrees today and fall to 18 to 20 degrees tonight to accompany more snow as it moves north.

Three county schools were closed today. They are Jackson, Monroe and Mendenhall. A low of 12 degrees was registered early today and the thermometer rose to 26 degrees yesterday.

California Panel Votes 'No' on End To Death Penalty

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A marathon, 12½ hour hearing ended early today with narrow defeat in the California Legislature for Gov. Edmund G. Brown's bill to repeal the death penalty.

The 8-7 vote by the Senate Judiciary Committee may have shattered Caryl Chessman's last hope in his 11½ year fight to escape the gas chamber.

Sen. Edwin J. Regan, committee chairman, had said before the hearing he expected the Senate to adjourn the special session on capital punishment on the bill if it was defeated. He indicated, adjournment was expected today.

Introduction of a similar bill in the Assembly was not planned and no further legislative action was expected on the death penalty before Chessman's scheduled execution May 2.

It was Brown's reprieve of the convict-author and his calling of a special session on capital punishment that touched off the great debate.

Yet, as if by tacit agreement, not a single witness mentioned the controversial prisoner by name.

The long, almost subdued hearing by the all-lawyer committee began at 9 a.m. Wednesday before a jam-packed audience. It ended at 1 a.m. on a dramatic note.

Deputy District Attorney J. Miller Leavy of Los Angeles disclosed that Barbara Graham, fourth woman to be executed in California history, confessed her guilt in the last few minutes of her life in 1955.

He said the 32-year-old convicted slayer of an elderly widow made the admission to the late Warden Harley O. Teets of San Quentin prison.

Leavy, who was Chessman's prosecutor, was the final witness. He said he related the Graham story because a movie of her life left the impression she was innocent.

Even as the Senate committee debated the death penalty question, the California Supreme Court Wednesday turned down Chessman's latest petition. This one challenged legality of his new May 2 execution date.

A. L. Wirin, one of his attorneys, told newsmen here the decision ended Chessman's court appeals.

"Chessman's fate is now entirely in the hands of the governor unless the Legislature takes favorable action," he said.

Brown, after giving Chessman a 60-day reprieve Feb. 19, said he would let him die if the state's lawmakers rejected his plea to abolish capital punishment.

The 38-year-old prisoner was convicted in 1948 on charges of kidnapping which involved forcing two young women to perform an unnatural sex act.

The Senate committee listened to proponents of repeal for seven hours. It wasn't until 8:30 p.m. that opponents—chiefly law enforcement officers—stepped up to the witness stand in the theater-like hearing room.

Witnesses supporting the bill hit two main themes: That capital punishment does not deter crime; that it is "barbaric" and "brutalizes society."

The quota change under the administration plan was said to call for a shift of 200,000 tons from Cuba in place of a sure 200,000. Administration officials said Puerto Rico's quota, if Puerto Rico fails to fill its quota as it has in the past.

Cooley said this change would give an "uncertain" 200,000 tons to Cuba in place of a sure 200,000. Administration officials said Puerto Rico's quota, if Puerto Rico fails to fill its quota as it has in the past.

Senate Scheduled To Vote On Rights Debate Limitation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate votes today on a petition to clamp a time limit on its civil rights debate, now in its fourth week and likely to continue.

Almost simultaneously, the House starts debate on a civil rights bill that is far less objectionable to Southern opponents than the measure before the Senate.

The vote in the Senate was forced by a group of self-styled liberals against the advice of the leaders of both parties, and defeat of the effort was widely predicted.

The vote was ordered on a petition of 31 senators to invoke the Senate's cloture rule under which each senator's speaking time would be limited to one hour.

The rule, not successfully invoked since 1927, can be put into effect only by a two-thirds majority vote of the senators present.

A band of 18 Southern Senators fighting civil rights legislation carried on a full-scale filibuster through around-the-clock sessions which started Feb. 29 after the first two weeks of debate. The nonstop sessions ended by agreement Tuesday night and are not expected to be resumed even if lengthy debate continues.

Some senators believe the Senate is likely to wind up by taking the House bill if it is not greatly changed. But it will not reach the Senate for another week.

5 Children Found in Rubble

10-Day-Old Quake Area Still Searched

RABAT (AP)—Rescue workers today pulled five weak and dazed children from the rubble of Agadir, which was virtually destroyed by an earthquake 10 days ago.

The Moroccan state radio carried the report that the children were found in wreckage of the Moroccan quarter, which was 90 per cent destroyed.

The rescue brought to 10 the number of survivors pulled out in the last three days—after almost all hope had been given up of finding anyone left alive.

The children ranged from 6 to 15 years old. One was a Moslem and four were Jewish children. About half the 2,400 Jews in Agadir are estimated to have died in the earthquake.

Finding the latest survivors spurred rescue workers who are combing the city and using air hammers and other equipment to raise and probe bits of wreckage.

Efforts centered in the native quarter, where engineers teams carefully combed the entire area, and in the region of the collapsed Hotel Saada, where faint voices are reported to have been heard.

The workers in the town are now mainly Moroccan soldiers and a company of American engineers. The French have offered to land 700 sailors to continue rescue work if they should be needed.

The city is still cordoned off by troops and has been completely sprayed with chlorine, D.D.T., quinine and other disinfectants.

Up to 12,000 persons are estimated to have died in the quake. Of these, two are Americans.

They are Mrs. Werner Bauer, of Placentia Calif., whose body was pulled from the family's apartment, and her daughter, Norene, who died Wednesday at the U.S. Naval Hospital at Port Lyautey.

The 90-pound scientific package was designed to explore space between the earth and Venus.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said a new firing date for the probe had not been scheduled.

As the countdown on the Thor-Able launching vehicle entered the final seconds, a hold was called. Minutes later the shot was called off.

If the trouble is minor the rocket could be fired in a day or two. NASA had the time between 8:00 and 8:30 a. m. EST to launch the rocket under conditions for the desired path.

When it became apparent the middle could not be fired in this period the shot was called off.

Resting atop the 90-foot rocket was a payload designed to intercept the orbit of the planet Venus and become a satellite of the sun.

The package, called Pioneer V, is designed to make the most thorough study of space ever attempted.

It would send back information while swinging around the sun, alternately touching orbital paths of earth and Venus.

Mine Rescuers Pushing Efforts

LOGAN, W.Va. (AP)—Mine officials today extended for a few hours more the target time when they expect to reach 18 men trapped four miles inside a fire-blocked coal mine.

Rescue crews had hoped to tear through the last barricade and reach the stranded men by mid-morning. But after that time had passed, word was issued that the time had been extended a few hours.

That has been the story since the 18 men were trapped behind a slate fall and smoldering fire last Tuesday morning in the Island Creek Coal Co.'s No. 22 Mine at nearby Holden.

The hours have turned into days.

There has been no contact with the 18 since noon Tuesday when the telephone connection with them went dead, apparently cut by the fire.

Temperatures weren't so cold at the scene Wednesday night. Unofficially the low was 19 degrees above zero, compared with 11 above the night before.

More than a foot of new snow from Wednesday's near-blizzard blanketed the grimy mine buildings, one of which bore a red neon sign with the words, "Be careful."

The snow subsided to flurries during the morning, but leaden skies held promise of more.

The mine officials said the stubborn fire which has held the men trapped is practically under control and they expect rescuers to move on "as rapidly as possible."

Forecast Says More Coming

6-Inch Accumulation Recorded in Marietta

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

On Feb. 2, Mr. Groundhog predicted six more weeks of winter for Ohio. The prediction was emphasized Wednesday when Southern Ohio got another clobbering with snow. And more is coming.

Five inches of new snow plopped into the Cincinnati area, snarling traffic and closing schools. The remainder of the state counted itself fairly lucky with depths diminishing to the north. Columbus reported two inches of new snow from the storm but Cleveland escaped entirely.

The snowfall in the southern sector generally totaled four inches on top of the remnants of last week's big snow.

Predictions were that more snow is in store for Ohio tonight and Friday after a lull today.

The State Highway Patrol reported that most roads are snow-covered and slippery, especially in the southern half of the state.

Jackson and Wilmington reported four inches of snow and Piqua measured at least four with the snow still falling. Marietta topped them with six inches.

Wednesday's blizzard romped out of Kentucky after burying that state with deep snow. The Weather Bureau reported that a similar storm was being concocted in the Oklahoma panhandle area, where Wednesday's originated.

Schools reported closed by the storm include: Lebanon, through Thursday; West Union, Peebles, Franklin, Jefferson and some in Scioto county until Monday; Brown County, indefinitely. Vinton County schools were closed for Thursday with others expected to follow.

New Sugar Law Called 'Club'

U.S. Denies Reprisal Planned against Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D-NC) said today the administration apparently plans to ask for a new sugar law which he said could be a "weapon of reprisal" against Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Administration sources confirmed that some changes which Cooley opposes are included in a bill they intend to submit next week to the House Agriculture Committee, which Cooley heads.

But they denied the administration measure is designed as a club against Cuba, which reaps a 150 million dollars yearly bonus under present law. They said their bill is merited for agricultural reasons, and would not hurt Cuba.

The basic aim of the sugar law, first passed early in the New Deal, is to protect the U.S. sugar industry from violent ups and downs. Quotas prevent an oversupply of sugar in the United States, and prices far above the world market rate are paid for imported sugar to keep it from undercutting domestic growers.

Cuba sells about half her annual six-million-ton production of sugar to the United States.

The quota change under the administration plan was said to call for a shift of 200,000 tons from Cuba in place of a sure 200,000. Administration officials said Puerto Rico's quota, if Puerto Rico fails to fill its quota as it has in the past.

Cooley said this change would give an "uncertain" 200,000 tons to Cuba in place of a sure 200,000. Administration officials said Puerto Rico's quota, if Puerto Rico fails to fill its quota as it has in the past.

Many Students To Participate In Friday's Science Fair Here

The Science Fair committee and representatives from the Circleville Kiwanis Club met Monday to complete arrangements for the first Science Fair of the Circleville Schools. The event will be held at the High School Friday night.

The fair should be an outstanding event considering the number of entries and the wide range of interest in the various phases of science.

The High School will have 182 entries, the seventh and eighth grades will have 42, and the elementary grades will have 75, making an unexpected total of 335 entries. There also will be classroom projects.

Students entering projects are required to have them set up and in place no later than 5 p. m. They are to be back to the High School building at 6 p. m. and assemble in the auditorium.

FROM the auditorium they will go to their own projects while the judging takes place from 6 to 7 p. m. They must be prepared to answer questions concerning their project.

Students then will return to the auditorium until open house from 7:30 to 8:30. At 8:30 the awards will be presented by the Kiwanis Club in the auditorium.

Each person entering a project will receive a certificate. Those receiving a superior rating by the judges will receive medals donated by the Kiwanis Club.

Students of the seventh and eighth grades and High School students who receive a superior rating may participate in the District Science Fair at Columbus.

The Science Fair projects will be set up in the High School social room and adjoining classrooms. There will be signs directing the pupils to the three divisions: elementary, seventh and eighth grades, and High School.

hotels, deciding not to risk a trip home; trash collection was cut off and there were a rash of minor accidents. In Portsmouth, Lake Central Airlines had all its flights knocked out by the storm.

The Weather Bureau at Columbus predicted that snow would spread over the state Thursday night and Friday with little change in temperatures. Most cities reported temperatures in the 20's Wednesday.

Heavy snow fell from northern North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia during the night. Sleet, freezing rain and rain in southern North Carolina threatened to spread northward over mid-Atlantic coastal areas.

The storm that fanned across the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys appeared to have lost much of its fury as it moved north eastward across the Appalachians. But snow fell through Maryland and Delaware, with falls from 3 to 6 inches. Lesser amounts were forecast in New Jersey and New York.

Snow depths were up to two feet in southwest Virginia and picked up to record amounts in many communities in Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee, Kentucky and Missouri.

The early March storm, with spring only 11 days away, left scores of towns isolated. Hundreds of travelers were stranded as bus and plane service was disrupted or canceled. Hundreds of schools, stores and factories were closed. In parts of the storm belt, funeral services were postponed and church services canceled.

There were at least a score of storm-related deaths, including 7 in Illinois, 2 each in Tennessee, Missouri, Nebraska, Georgia and Kentucky and 1 each in Indiana, Iowa and Idaho.

Kentucky, reeling under the worst snowstorm in the state's history, was declared a state of emergency by Gov. Bert Combs. Some 20 inches of fresh snow covered sections of the Blue Grass State. Bowling Green, a city of 32,000, was virtually paralyzed. The 8.4 inches of snow in Louisville was a record fall.

National Guardsmen were called out in Kentucky, Indiana and Virginia. They were pressed into service helping weary highway crews and aiding police in emergency duties.

In Evansville, Ind., a city of 142,000 guardsmen helped doctors and ambulances on emergency calls. The city trudged through the foot-high snow, including the fresh fall of nine inches, the heaviest in more than 40 years.

State Hospital Survey Starts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Social workers have started surveying 11 state hospitals to screen aged inmates for transfer to nursing homes.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle estimates that the program which he has ordered will shift 3500 inmates, making beds available for mental patients who require special care.

Aid for the Aged funds will pay for the patients' care in the rest homes. Most will be transferred to homes in their home counties.

DiSalle said it would cost about 45 million dollars to provide beds in new state institutions for the aged patients. He added that the transfers will take considerable time but hoped they could be accomplished without undue delay.

Boy, 16 Tells Of Killing Pair In $16 Holdup

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A 16-year-old boy has orally admitted slaying a storekeeper and his wife in a $16 holdup.

Leonard J. Seal and his wife Goldie, both 53, were killed Tuesday night. Their bodies were found Wednesday afternoon in their store at Ferguson, a suburb of St. Louis.

Robert Francis Kunkel Jr., who will be 17 a week from today, was quoted by police as saying he went into the store and, without a word, began shooting.

The first victim was Mrs. Seal. Her husband, who was eating dinner in their home which adjoins the little market-confectionery, ran in and was shot.

He was hit three times and stabbed 25 times in the chest and back. Mrs. Seal was shot twice and stabbed 25 times.

Kunkel said he picked up a butcher knife and stabbed the couple because they were still breathing and because they knew him. Police said he told them one of the victims gasped: "Bobbie, Bobbie."

They were shot with a .22 pistol which belonged to Kunkel's father.

All the money in the cash register except a few pennies was taken.

The youth was picked up Wednesday afternoon just seven minutes after broadcast of an alarm describing the Seal car, which had been stolen.

Beavers Cited For Service On Board Here

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown today commended former Pickaway County Board of Elections chairman, Harold M. Beavers, Route 1, Orient, for his service in administration of the local board.

Many Students To Participate In Friday's Science Fair Here

The Science Fair committee and representatives from the Circleville Kiwanis Club met Monday to complete arrangements for the first Science Fair of the Circleville Schools. The event will be held at the High School Friday night.

The fair should be an outstanding event considering the number of entries and the wide range of interest in the various phases of science.

The High School will have 182 entries, the seventh and eighth grades will have 42, and the elementary grades will have 75, making an unexpected total of 335 entries. There also will be classroom projects.

Students entering projects are required to have them set up and in place no later than 5 p. m. They are to be back to the High School building at 6 p. m. and assemble in the auditorium.

FROM the auditorium they will go to their own projects while the judging takes place from 6 to 7 p. m. They must be prepared to answer questions concerning their project.

Students then will return to the auditorium until open house from 7:30 to 8:30. At 8:30 the awards will be presented by the Kiwanis Club in the auditorium.

Each person entering a project will receive a certificate. Those receiving a superior rating by the judges will receive medals donated by the Kiwanis Club.

Students of the seventh and eighth grades and High School students who receive a superior rating may participate in the District Science Fair at Columbus.

The Science Fair projects will be set up in the High School social room and adjoining classrooms. There will be signs directing the pupils to the three divisions: elementary, seventh and eighth grades, and High School.

The public is invited to attend this first Science Fair. Adults are urged to encourage the participants who have worked hard for many weeks on their projects.

Electronics, Missiles Help Hike Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved ahead today under leadership of electronics and aircraft-missile issues.

Steels and motors, which had been in the forefront of Wednesday's rousing rally, lagged. They showed a mixture of small gains and losses.

Rails and chemicals were up. Oils recorded relatively modest gains. Trading went along at a good pace although the ticker ran late only briefly shortly after the opening.

Demand for aircraft-missiles followed award of contracts totaling 273 million dollars to Lockheed aircraft from the Air Force. Lockheed gained nearly 10 on top of 7 1/2 Wednesday.

Boeing ran ahead nearly 2 points while General Dynamics and Douglas advanced major fractions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 80 at 211.00 with the industrials ahead 0.50, rails 1.60 and utilities 0.30.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds eased.

Forecast Says

hotels, deciding not to risk a trip home; trash collection was cut off and there were a rash of minor accidents. In Portsmouth, Lake Central Airlines had all its flights knocked out by the storm.

The Weather Bureau at Columbus predicted that snow would spread over the state Thursday night and Friday with little change in temperatures. Most cities reported temperatures in the 20's Wednesday.

Heavy snow fell from northern North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia during the night. Sleeting, freezing rain and rain in southern North Carolina threatened to spread northward over Mid-Atlantic coastal areas.

The storm that fanned across the middle Mississippi and Ohio the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys appeared to have lost much of its fury as it moved north eastward across the Appalachians. But snow fell through Maryland and Delaware, with falls from 3 to 6 inches. Lesser amounts were forecast in New Jersey and New York.

Snow depths were up to two feet in southwest Virginia and piled up to record amounts in many communities in Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee, Kentucky and Missouri.

The early March storm, with spring only 11 days away, left scores of towns isolated. Hundreds of travelers were stranded as bus and plane service was disrupted or canceled. Hundreds of schools, stores and factories were closed. In parts of the storm belt, funeral services were postponed and church services canceled.

There were at least a score of storm-related deaths, including 7 in Illinois, 2 each in Tennessee, Missouri, Nebraska, Georgia and Kentucky and 1 each in Indiana, Iowa and Idaho.

Kentucky, reeling under the worst snowstorm in the state's history, was declared a state of emergency by Gov. Bert Combs. Some 20 inches of fresh snow covered sections of the Blue Grass State. Bowling Green, a city of 32,000, was virtually paralyzed. The 8.4 inches of snow in Louisville was a record fall.

National Guardsmen were called out in Kentucky, Indiana and Virginia. They were pressed into service helping weary highway crews and aiding police in emergency duties.

In Evansville, Ind., a city of 142,000 guardsmen helped doctors and ambulances on emergency calls. The city trudged through the foot-high snow, including the fresh fall of nine inches, the heaviest in more than 40 years.

State Hospital Survey Starts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Social workers have started surveying 11 state hospitals to screen aged inmates for transfer to nursing homes.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle estimates that the program which he has ordered will shift 3500 inmates, making beds available for mental patients who require special care.

Aid for the Aged fads will pay for the patients' care in the rest homes. Most will be transferred to homes in their home counties.

DiSalle said it would cost about 45 million dollars to provide beds in new state institutions for the aged patients. He added that the transfers will take considerable time but hoped they could be accomplished without undue delay.

Payments to U.S. Improve

Improvement in our international payments situation apparently has come much sooner than had been predicted. Preliminary government estimates for January indicate the United States is well on the way toward substantial reduction of the $3.5 to $4 billion deficits of the last two years.

Prominent in the brighter picture is a rise in exports from an annual rate of $15 billion in January, 1959, to $17.5 billion in January this year. The increase in $960 million is expected to run about $600 million, from $15.3 billion to $15.9 billion.

Whether the turning point in the balance of international payments has been reached is not clear. To fulfill the expectations raised by the January figures, business activity would have to remain at a high level throughout the year. But that's only one of the conditions. To make sure the improvement continues, more must be done on the commercial level. Goods must be made more attractive both in quality and price. American companies must do a better selling job—at least equal to the efforts of our chief competitors, the Germans and the Japanese—and if other nations do not ease discriminatory trade restrictions, this country must match them.

Plato Makes Like Dear Abby

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Dear Pave-met Plato:

"My girl is pretty, red-haired, has a fine job, stands to inherit money, and can cook better than a French chef."

"We get along fine, but she says that when I kiss her she gets goose pimples. What should I do?"—Perplexed.

Dear Perplexed: Marry her, son. What else could you be looking for in life?

Dear Plato: "My friends all joke at me because they say I am getting too fat. But actually I am not fat at all. I just look fat because I wear double-breasted winter underwear to keep me warm. What would you do if you were me?"—Pudge.

Dear Pudge: Move to Florida, or give yourself up to the Smithsonian Institution.

Dear Plato: "I am concerned about my son. He is 17 years old, hates rock

"I have an etiquette problem. Is it okay to write love letters with a typewriter on business stationery, or should they be written in pen and ink on personal stationery?"—Proper Soul.

Dear Proper Soul: Neither. The only safe way to write love letters is by hand in sand, and while the tide is coming in.

Dear Plato: "I am 18 years old. I just graduated from a pergressive hi skool, where my favrut subject was English compuhshishon."

"My gole in life is to bekum a beatnik writer. Have you enny good advice for me?"—Ambishus.

Dear Ambishus: Yes. The first thing for you to do is to throw away your spelling book. It has already begun to cramp your style.

Dear Plato: "I am concerned about my son. He is 17 years old, hates rock

n' roll music, never has smoked marijuana or carried a switch-blade knife. He doesn't date steady, never wants to borrow the family car, and spends all his spare time working to earn enough money to pay his own way through college."

"What should I do with this paragon of a boy?"—Uneasy.

Dear Uneasy: This kid sounds dangerous. Obviously, must be hiding something. Beat him until he confesses.

Dear Plato: "My wife and I don't get along very well. Lately, every time I go on a trip by air, she has insisted that I take out $125,000 in flight insurance. What do you think of this?"—Just Wondering.

Dear Just Wondering: I see nothing wrong in this, as long as your wife doesn't insist on packin your suitcase herself.

Rickover Speeches and Lawsuits

By George Sokolsky

Admiral Hyman Rickover is a very busy man. He builds atomic submarines; he devotes himself to the major problems of education; he is a Vice Admiral in the Navy and an officer of the Atomic Energy Commission; and he is an appellee in a lawsuit over his speeches. Few men's speeches were ever so important or so commercially valuable that there were suits over the property value of them.

According to the brief before me, Public Affairs Associates, Inc., trading as Public Affairs Press, is appealing from an unfavorable decision. This publishing company sought to print a number of Admiral Rickover's speeches for distribution for profit. It occurred to the Admiral, perhaps with considerable surprise, that if there is to be a profit as well as wisdom in his speeches, he might get the money to use as he chooses. Surely, he could not fathom why this stranger was entitled to the dough, particularly as he, the stranger, had contributed nothing to the speeches. So Rickover sold the speeches to E. P. Dutton and Company and got himself into a lawsuit.

It is clear that when the Admiral delivers a speech, he makes it available to newspapers to print, in whole or in part, as and if they choose. But he reserves the right to have them published in book form. For this purpose he copyrights them. Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt, both Presidents of the United States, had their speeches published in book form, between hard covers.

Roosevelt's speeches were edited by their principal author, Judge Samuel I. Rosenman. If a President's speeches may be published as a private literary effort, certainly an Admiral's can. Both are officers of the United States; both receive salaries for their work; both undoubtedly do their speech-writing on government time because if they are any good at all, they give all their time to their work as officers of the government. No President could survive if he limited his labors to a 40-hour week and Rickover could not have accomplished as much as he has on such a short day.

Perhaps we need an act of Congress to determine where the property value in a public official's speech lies. One might go further and raise the question as to whether a Senator, Representative, Cabinet officer or other public official ought not to return to the Treasury any fees he might receive from the lecture platform. For, in logic, is the property value of a speech less when delivered than when printed? It used to be that the late Vice President Alben Barkley got, I am told, as high as $1,500 for a speech, a fee which he well deserved, he being a natural-born humorist, not a gagster. Perhaps he should have delivered all his speeches in the common domain so that someone who neither speaks nor writes might get the fee!

I used to be in the speech-making business and did well at it. I never received fees that ran as high as Eleanor Roosevelt's, but I did run up beyond my deserts. I finally gave it up as too strenuous a trade. As the railroads deteriorated and plane travel in the winter became too precarious, I calculated that the best place to make a speech is at home. Besides, the fees went to the income tax collector.

However, Admiral Rickover is a wild-eyed, fanatical optimist who believes that he can convert his fellow-men to sane and logical concepts of life and to an appreciation of the perils of sloppy education. So he patriotically devotes himself to chasing about the country telling all who will listen that there is still a chance of saving America through education.

His work is outstanding. Each speech is an important, studied document. He labors valiantly to explain to our people that we need informed, educated, imaginative thinkers. He calls such professional men, an inadequate term, and he contrasts them with mere technicians. If Rickover's ideas are put to work, we shall push the Russians into the White Sea.

So he has to have a lawsuit, yet. Anything can happen in a free country, but Rickover is to be admired that he does not take things lying down. The courts are the place to fight this battle and if the Public Affairs crowd manages to win, let no one make any more speeches.

The man, described as a key figure in the case, was arrested Friday night on a drunk driving charge. He pleaded guilty Tuesday to two counts and was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $200. He also was held on suspicion and that charge was continued until March 29 as a team of investigators sought to check out the material provided by the man.

The Beacon Journal reported: Police found the man carried papers when arrested—social security cards, drivers' licenses, lists of names and lists of medical bills.

"When I was young, my family really was poor," recalls Singing Star Dorothy Shay. "Everything I wore—socks, blouses, even handkerchiefs—had been darned over and over by my mother. I wasn't the smartest or prettiest, but I sure was the best darned kid in the neighborhood!"

Coffee Breaks Are Needed

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

You can let off steam during a coffee break. Spout off all you want (to your fellow employees) about how the boss is doing everything wrong, and by the time you get back to your job, you'll probably feel much better—and you may even be able to do better work.

This is just one advantage of the coffee break, now a tradition in American business. There are many others.

The last time I wrote about the value of a coffee break, I received a number of letters, one of them from an employer who disputed my views and instead suggested:

"How about a work break for a change?"

Well, everyone is entitled to his opinion and I appreciate hearing from all of you. Doctors, however pretty generally agree that coffee breaks actually do benefit both the employee and his employer because they help pep up the employee physically and mentally.

An employee may not have much to say about the operation of the business while he is under the boss's thumb. But downstairs, or across the street over a cup of coffee with fellow employees, he can express himself as much as he likes. And it's good for his ego.

Such discussions sometimes result in good ideas which can be put into effect to aid the employer.

A coffee break gives an employee time to relax, time to get to know other employees better. I think just about everyone will agree that it is much easier and much more pleasant to work among friends in a friendly atmosphere.

Remember your first day on the job? It was pretty strenuous, wasn't it? How much better you feel now that you know those who are working beside you!

In addition to the relaxation time, the coffee itself helps stimulate the employee upon his return to work. The average cup of coffee contains up to 150 milligrams of caffeine. And who stops at one cup a day?

Now this amount of caffeine is enough to stimulate the cortex, thereby postponing fatigue, causing more rapid thinking, often resulting in better overall brain work.

And what employer doesn't want this to happen?

Question and Answer
J. H. F.: Can you tell me what constitutes a complete physical examination?

Whenever I ask my doctor for such an examination, he tells me I don't need it as I am the picture of health.

Answer: Your doctor should decide what he considers a complete physical examination. It will depend on his findings in each case.

He will check the person from head to foot and if he finds any abnormality he will order further tests as the case may demand.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Those two leaders who will soon have to face each other—President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev—are keeping their hands on the table and their voices down.

It has been an intensely interesting study to watch the way these two men have handled themselves since they met last year at Camp David and agreed to meet in May at Paris in a summit conference with Britain and France.

Both have avoided anything which might leave either of them open to the accusation of ruining chances for summit success by word or conduct before the meeting ever started.

Khrushchev practically black-jacked the United States into inviting him to a visit here, after he had demanded the Allies get their troops out of Berlin.

Although the foreign ministers of this country, the Soviet Union, Britain and France had long meetings last year to try to settle the Berlin issue, Khrushchev never permitted a settlement.

One thing which irked the West was what seemed to be a deadline laid down by Khrushchev for the Allies to get out of Berlin. He later denied setting any deadline, and at Camp David he agreed there should be no fixed limit on the negotiations.

It was only because he did that Eisenhower agreed to meet with him at the summit. The President took the position that the United States could not be threatened by Khrushchev into a summit meeting.

Since then, despite what may have seemed hostile statements by both men, the two actually have carefully avoided saying anything which would wreck the summit meeting before it began.

Every once in a while Khrushchev, since his visit here, has said nothing which indicated he might be ending his peaceful period.

But the bouncy Soviet, in one way or another, always managed to give bland assurance that he zealously desired the most peaceful attitude by East and West before Paris.

For example: When he returned to the Soviet Union from his Asian trip last week practically his first words were insistence that no one do or say anything that could disturb the atmosphere before the summit meeting began.

Eisenhower this week gave a similar demonstration of earnest-

ness in wanting the Paris meeting to begin under the most peaceful conditions possible. He killed the idea of defying Soviet objections by flying military airplanes at high altitudes into West Berlin. Such a flight, no matter how high, would have to be across the territory of the Soviet satellite, Communist East Germany. And the Soviet Union contends, although the Western powers deny it, that an agreement limits such flights to 10,000 feet.

It seems a pretty good bet both Eisenhower and Khrushchev will continue to avoid anything which looks like threat or anger before the summit meeting. There are a couple of good reasons for that:

1. It's possible, although perhaps unlikely, that something good can come out of the Paris meeting.

2. It would be bad propaganda for the United States or the Soviet Union—since the whole world is hoping for some solutions at the summit—to throw a broken bottle through the window.

Dear Proper Soul: Neither. The only safe way to write love letters is by hand in sand, and while the tide is coming in.

Dear Plato:

"I am 18 years old. I just graduated from a pergressive hi skool, where my favrut subject was English compuhshion."

Dear Ambishus: "My gale in life is to bekum a beatnik writer. Have you enny good advice for me?"—Ambishus.

Dear Ambishus: Yes. The first thing for you to do is to throw away your spelling book. It has already begun to cramp your style.

Dear Plato:

"I am concerned about my son. He is 17 years old, hates rock

'n' roll music, never has smoked marijuana or carried a switch-blade knife. He doesn't date steady, never wants to borrow the family car, and spends all his spare time working to earn enough money to pay his own way through college."

"What should I do with this paragon of a boy?"—Uneasy.

Dear Uneasy: This kid sounds dangerous. Obviously, must be hiding something. Beat him until he confesses.

Dear Plato:

"My wife and I don't get along very well. Lately, every time I go on a trip by air, she has insisted that I take out $125,000 in flight insurance. What do you think of this?"—Just Wondering.

Dear Just Wondering: I see nothing wrong in this, as long as your wife doesn't insist on packin your suitcase herself.

Rickover Speeches and Lawsuits

By George Sokolsky

Admiral Hyman Rickover is a very busy man. He builds atomic submarines; he devotes himself to the major problems of education; he is a Vice Admiral in the Navy and an officer of the Atomic Energy Commission; and he is an appellee in a lawsuit over his speeches. Few men's speeches were ever so important or so commercially valuable that there were suits over the property value of them.

According to the brief before me, Public Affairs Associates, Inc., trading as Public Affairs Press, is appealing from an unfavorable decision. This publishing company sought to print a number of Admiral Rickover's speeches for distribution for profit. It occurred to the Admiral, perhaps with considerable surprise, that if there is to be a profit as well as wisdom in his speeches, he might get the money to use as he chooses. Surely, he could not fathom why this stranger was entitled to the dough, particularly as he, the stranger, had contributed nothing to the speeches. So Rickover sold the speeches to E. P. Dutton and Company and got himself into a lawsuit.

It is clear that when the Admiral delivers a speech, he makes it available to newspapers to print, in whole or in part, and if they choose. But he reserves the right to have them published in book form. For this purpose he copyrights them. Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt, both Presidents of the United States, had their speeches published in book form, between hard covers.

Roosevelt's speeches were edited by their principal author, Judge Samuel I. Rosenman. If a President's speeches may be published as a private literary effort, certainly an Admiral's can. Both are officers of the United States; both receive salaries for their work; both undoubtedly do their speech-writing on government time because if they are any good at all, they give all their time to their work as officers of the government. No President could survive if he limited his labors to a 40-hour week and Rickover could not have accomplished as much as he has on such a short day.

Perhaps we need an act of Congress to determine where the property value in a public official's speech lies. One might go further and raise the question as to whether a Senator, Representative, Cabinet officer or other public official ought not to return to the Treasury any fees he might receive from the lecture platform. For, in logic, is the property value of a speech less when delivered than when printed? It used to be that the late Vice President Alben Barkley got, I am told, as high as $1,500 for a speech, a fee which he well deserved, he being a natural-born humorist, not a gagster. Perhaps he should have delivered all his speeches in the common domain so that someone who neither speaks nor writes might get the fee!

I used to be in the speech-making business and did well at it. I never received fees that ran as high as Eleanor Roosevelt's, but I did run up beyond my deserts. I finally gave it up as too strenuous a trade. As the railroads deteriorated and plane travel in the winter became too precarious, I calculated that the best place to make a speech is at home. Besides, the fees went to the income tax collector.

However, Admiral Rickover is a wild-eyed, fanatical optimist who believes that he can convert his fellow-men to sane and logical concepts of life and to an appreciation of the perils of sloppy education. So he patriotically devotes himself to chasing about the country telling all who will listen that there is still a chance of saving America through education.

His work is outstanding. Each speech is an important, studied document. He labors valiantly to explain to our people that we need informed, educated, imaginative thinkers. He calls such, professional men, an inadequate term, and he contrasts them with mere technicians. If Rickover's ideas are put to work, we shall push the Russians into the White Sea.

So he has to have a lawsuit, yet. Anything can happen in a free country, but Rickover is to be admired that he does not take things lying down. The courts are the place to fight this battle and if the Public Affairs crowd manages to win, let no one make any more speeches.

The company reportedly has sustained losses in adjusting false or inflated auto accident claims in recent years. The Assn. Casualty & Surety Underwriters uncovered the purported fraud.

John S. Ballard, Summit County prosecutor, said today: "This case is getting far bigger than first believed."

He said he would turn over the entire case to the grand jury as soon as all the evidence is compiled.

The man, described as a key figure in the case, was arrested Friday night on a drunk driving charge. He pleaded guilty Tuesday to two counts and was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $200. He also was held on suspicion and that charge was continued until March 29 as a team of investigators sought to check out the material provided by the man.

The Beacon Journal reported: Police found the man carried papers when arrested—social security cards, drivers' licenses, lists of names and lists of medical bills.

ONE GUIDE at Niagara Falls earns a big laugh—and extra tips—from every woman's group he serves by this sure-fire device: He herds them close to the edge of the falling torrents and announces, "Now, ladies, if I can possibly persuade you all to be absolutely silent for two minutes at the same time, you will hear the deafening roar of the cascading waters of Niagara!"

"When I was young, my family really was poor," recalls Singing Star Dorothy Shay. "Everything I wore—socks, blouses, even handkerchiefs—had been darned over and over by my mother. I wasn't the smartest or prettiest, but I sure was the best darned kid in the neighborhood!"

"I no longer bother installing air conditioning in my new automobiles," confessed a jaded Texan tycoon. "It's simpler to keep a couple of ice-cold spare cars in the refrigerator."

Coffee Breaks Are Needed

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

You can let off steam during a coffee break. Spout off all you want (to your fellow employees) about how the boss is doing everything wrong, and by the time you get back to your job, you'll probably feel much better—and you may even be able to do better work.

This is just one advantage of the coffee break, now a tradition in American business. There are many others.

The last time I wrote about the value of a coffee break, I received a number of letters, one of them from an employer who disputed my views and instead suggested:

"How about a work break for a change?"

Well, everyone is entitled to his opinion and I appreciate hearing from all of you. Doctors, however, pretty generally agree that coffee breaks actually do benefit both the employee and his employer because they help pep up the employee physically and mentally.

An employee may not have much to say about the operation of the business while he is under the boss's thumb. But downstairs, or across the street over a cup of coffee with fellow employees, he can express himself as much as he likes. And it's good for his ego.

Such discussions sometimes result in good ideas which can be put into effect to aid the employer.

A coffee break gives an employee time to relax, time to get to know other employees better. I think just about everyone will agree that it is much easier and much more pleasant to work among friends in a friendly atmosphere.

Remember your first day on the job? It was pretty strenuous, wasn't it? How much better you feel now that you know those who are working beside you!

In addition to the relaxation time, the coffee itself helps stimulate the employee upon his return to work. The average cup of coffee contains up to 150 milligrams of caffeine. And who stops at one cup a day?

Now this amount of caffeine is enough to stimulate the cortex, thereby postponing fatigue, causing more rapid thinking, often resulting in better overall brain work.

And what employer doesn't want this to happen?

Question and Answer
J. H. F.: Can you tell me what constitutes a complete physical examination?

Whenever I ask my doctor for such an examination, he tells me I don't need it as I am the picture of health.

Answer: Your doctor should decide what he considers a complete physical examination. It will depend on his findings in each case.

He will check the person from head to foot and if he finds any abnormality he will order further tests as the case may demand.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Those two leaders who will soon have to face each other—President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev—are keeping their hands on the table and their voices down.

It has been an intensely interesting study to watch the way these two men have handled themselves since they met last year at Camp David and agreed to meet in May at Paris in a summit conference with Britain and France.

Both have avoided anything which might leave either of them open to the accusation of ruining chances for summit success by word or conduct before the meeting ever started.

Khrushchev practically black-jacked the United States into inviting him to a visit here, after he had demanded the Allies get their troops out of Berlin.

Although the foreign ministers of this country, the Soviet Union, Britain and France had long meetings last year to try to settle the Berlin issue, Khrushchev never permitted a settlement.

One thing which irked the West was what seemed to be a deadline laid down by Khrushchev for the Allies to get out of Berlin. He later denied setting any deadline, and at Camp David he agreed there should be no fixed limit on the negotiations.

It was only because he did that Eisenhower agreed to meet with him at the summit. The President took the position that the United States could not be threatened by Khrushchev into a summit meeting.

Since then, despite what may have seemed hostile statements by both men, the two actually have carefully avoided saying anything which would wreck the summit meeting before it began.

Every once in a while Khrushchev, since his visit here, has said nothing which indicated he might be ending his peaceful period.

But the bouncy Soviet, in one way or another, always managed to give bland assurance that he zealously desired the most peaceful attitude by East and West before Paris.

For example: When he returned to the Soviet Union from his Asian trip last week practically his first words were insistence that no one do or say anything that could disturb the atmosphere before the summit meeting began.

Eisenhower this week gave a similar demonstration of earnest-

ness in wanting the Paris meeting to begin under the most peaceful conditions possible. He killed the idea of flying Soviet objections at high altitudes into West Berlin.

Such a flight, no matter how high, would have to be across the territory of the Soviet satellite, Communist East Germany. And the Soviet Union contends, although the Western powers deny it, that an agreement limits such flights to 10,000 feet.

It seems a pretty good bet both Eisenhower and Khrushchev will continue to avoid anything which looks like threat or anger before the summit meeting. There are a couple of good reasons for that:

1. It's possible, although perhaps unlikely, that something good can come out of the Paris meeting.

Private Citizen DiSalle Gives Death Penalty Views

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—“Capital punishment as applied by the state is morally wrong,” Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has asserted to a Legislative Study Committee. Speaking in the role of a private citizen DiSalle said: “Human personality must be considered of value in the sight of God.” “I’m hoping this committee will make an exhaustive study of this punishment. I’m convinced it is wrong. But as long as it is part of the law I will uphold it,” he continued. He added that he hopes for an attempt at proper rehabilitation of murderers instead. Sen. William Baker (D-Montgomery), chairman of the 11-member committee, asked if the state shouldn’t first become geared for rehabilitation. “I think officials will agree with you,” DiSalle answered.

The facts do not bear out claims of some that without capital punishment the murder rate would zoom, he said. “Capital punishment is not a deterrent,” he insisted in his 75-minute talk. DiSalle expanded on many of the arguments he presented to a committee of the last Legislature that rejected his plea to substitute life imprisonment for the death penalty. The governor observed that many court-appointed attorneys lack experience in criminal cases and asked: “Is this the kind of justice that we feel is the kind we want in the state?” He quoted Ohio Penitentiary warden Beryle Sacks as reporting that of the seven now in death row awaiting execution, five were defended by court-appointed attorneys. Only two could afford to hire their own lawyers.

Cub Scouting Achievement Plan Useful in Program

By T. JAMES HYDE
District Scout Executive

The Cub Scout achievement plan is a device for you to use in helping your son to develop physically and mentally and have fun while he is doing it. The projects are the things that experts have considered as helpful and basic in his growth.

His experience with these achievements will do more than help build his self-reliance. It also will help him toward the discovery that he is now old enough to meet certain responsibilities toward other people. This is necessary as a foundation to good citizenship.

The plan also provides the means of giving your boy the recognition that he needs so much. As you will remember, we discussed recognition as one of the basic needs of a boy 8-10 years old.

We know that boys develop behavior problems in seeking recognition. If he receives this recognition he craves, he may not have to do so many exasperating things in seeking it.

THE ACHIEVEMENT Plan will certainly add to your family life, as many of the projects are such that the entire family can enjoy them together. Surely, we need a positive force to bind the home together in these times.

For example, your boy's interest in his collection achievement can lead your family into an interesting hobby. The scrapbook achievement can lead to the making of a handsome diary or record of your vacation together.

The reading achievement can revive the wonderful old-fashioned custom of family reading, each member taking a turn at reading aloud from the time-tested children's masterpieces.

As a basis for passing the "Helps" in the Home Achievement, you can have a family conference and decide what each member would like to do in the way of jobs around the home. This often changes a boy's attitude about doing those jobs around his home.

When the achievement plan is working as it should in the home, you will have the feeling that the whole family is progressing through the ranks of Cub Scouting together.

Because Cub Scouting is a program for families, not just boys, it is natural that we give emphasis to the family doing things together.

THE STRONGEST factor in determining what your son will get from his Cub Scouting experiences is the amount of interest and cooperation that he receives from you. Not only will your son pass his achievements to you, but he also will need your help and encouragement in the preparation for passing them.

If your boy enters Cub Scouting, he must pass his Bobcat requirements. These are simple things that a boy should be able to do, among which are the Law and the Promise of the Pack which are the foundation stones upon which the program is built.

After Bobcat requirements are met, your boy can start on the achievements required for the first rank in Cubbing, which is the Wolf. Following are the Bear, Lion, and in preparation for Boy Scouting, Webelos ranks.

Each of the Wolf, Bear and Lion requirements have 12 parts. As the boy grows in age and in rank, the achievements are designed to be challenging for him. The 12 achievements for each rank are:

Wolf Achievements — feats of skill, flag, keeping well, help in the home, whittling, collections, scrapbook, tying things, safety, home games, know your neighborhood and reading.

Bear Achievements — young athlete, flag history keeping healthy, school good will, woodwork, home museum, hobbybook, rope, bike safety, family night, going places and play acting.

Lion achievements — muscle

builders, flag ceremonies, keeping strong, religious service, tools using your collection, logbook, using rope, outdoor safety, family fun, travel from fun and storytelling.

As you can see, these are comprehensive enough to keep any boy interested and learning. When your boy has completed the Wolf requirements, he will receive his Wolf badge. However, he cannot start on his Bear achievements until he is nine years old.

So, to keep him working and learning more, he can start working on "electives" and earn Arrow Points for his work. The elective system is set up to help your boy explore new and different fields of activity.

The elective program will prove to be a fine opportunity for dad-and-son cooperation and will open up a whole new field of comradeship between them.

In this series of articles, we have tried to acquaint you with Cub Scouting, what it is, how it works, who helps with it and what your place is if you are a Cub Scout Parent.

THIS PROGRAM is designed for all the family to participate in and to enjoy. Your son is probably enthusiastic about joining a Cub Scout den or you may want to form a den in your neighborhood or rural area.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today said Chinese Communists are occupying 12,000 square miles of border territory claimed by India.

Nehru's statement, prompted by a question in Parliament, was the first official disclosure of the area controlled by the Chinese since the border dispute with Peiping broke out.

Nehru told Parliament there are virtually no Indians in the affected area except for summer shepherds. Nearly all of the 12,000 square miles is believed to be in Ladakh, part of Kashmir state.

Retired Cop Is Brains in Vice Cleanup

CLEVELAND (AP)—A retired Cleveland policeman did the undercover work that led to the closing of two major gambling establishments in Canton Jan. 27, it was reported today.

But, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy said he has released John H. Jones as a special investigator. McElroy said:

"We are in the grand jury phase of our investigation now and feel it necessary to cut back our forces and expenses."

Jones, a colorful and controversial figure during his 38 years with the Cleveland Police Department, was paid $45 a day for his undercover work in Canton. Of that, $25 was regarded as expense money.

Jones, 65, worked as a special investigator since last August.

State authorities followed in Jones' trial and raided two important clearing house headquarters and arrested 27 men in Canton. The raids were led by assistant Atty. Gen. Joseph H. Ralston, who termed the establishments "important spots in the Stark County number operation."

Cub Scouting Achievement Plan Useful in Program

District Scout Executive

The Cub Scout achievement plan is a device for you to use in helping your son to develop physically and mentally and have fun while he is doing it. The projects are the things that experts have considered as helpful and basic in his growth.

His experience with these achievements will do more than help build his self-reliance. It also will help him toward the discovery that he is now old enough to meet certain responsibilities toward other people. This is necessary as a foundation to good citizenship.

The plan also provides the means of giving your boy the recognition that he needs so much. As you will remember, we discussed recognition as one of the basic needs of a boy 8-10 years old.

We know that boys develop behavior problems in seeking recognition. If he receives this recognition he craves, he may not have to do so many exasperating things in seeking it.

THE ACHIEVEMENT Plan will certainly add to your family life, as many of the projects are such that the entire family can enjoy them together. Surely, we need a positive force to bind the home together in these times.

For example, your boy's interest in his collection achievement can lead your family into an interesting hobby. The scrapbook achievement can lead to the making of a handsome diary or record of your vacation together.

The reading achievement can revive the wonderful old-fashioned custom of family reading, each member taking a turn at reading aloud from the time tested children's masterpieces.

As a basis for passing the "Helps" in the Home Achievement, you can have a family conference and decide what each member would like to do in the way of jobs around the home. This often changes a boy's attitude about doing those jobs around his home.

When the achievement plan is working as it should in the home, you will have the feeling that the whole family is progressing through the ranks of Cub Scouting together.

Because Cub Scouting is a program for families, not just boys, it is natural that we give emphasis to the family doing things together.

THE STRONGEST factor in determining what your son will get from his Cub Scouting experiences is the amount of interest and cooperation that he receives from you. Not only will your son pass his achievements to you, but he also will need your help and encouragement in the preparation for passing them.

If your boy enters Cub Scouting, he must pass his Bobcat requirements. These are simple things that a boy should be able to do, among which are the Law and the Promise of the Pack which are the foundation stones upon which the program is built.

After Bobcat requirements are met, your boy can start on the achievements required for the first rank in Cubbing, which is the Wolf. Following are the Bear, Lion, and in preparation for Boy Scouting, Webelos ranks.

Each of the Wolf, Bear and Lion requirements have 12 parts. As the boy grows in age and in rank, the achievements are designed to be challenging for him. The 12 achievements for each rank are:

Wolf Achievements — feats of skill, flag, keeping well, help in the home, whittling, collections, scrapbook, tying things, safety, home games, know your neighborhood and reading.

Bear Achievements — young athlete, flag history, keeping healthy, school good will, woodwork, home museum, hobbybook, rope, bike safety, family night, going places and play acting.

Lion achievements — muscle

builders, flag ceremonies, keeping strong, religious service, tools using your collection, logbook, using rope, outdoor safety, family fun, travel from fun and storytelling.

As you can see, these are comprehensive enough to keep any boy interested and learning.

When your boy has completed the Wolf requirements, he will receive his Wolf badge. However, he cannot start on his Bear achievements until he is nine years old.

So, to keep him working and learning more, he can start working on "electives" and can earn Arrow Points for his work. The elective system is set up to help your boy explore new and different fields of activity.

The elective program will prove to be a fine opportunity for dad-and-son cooperation and will open up a whole new field of comradeship between them.

In this series of articles, we have tried to acquaint you with Cub Scouting, what it is, how it works, who helps with it and what your place is if you are a Cub Scout Parent.

THIS PROGRAM is designed for all the family to participate in and to enjoy. Your son is probably enthusiastic about joining a Cub Scout den or you may want to form a den in your neighborhood or rural area, if there is not now one existing. In order to acquaint you with the existing units, we are listing them below.

If you wish to learn more about Cub Scouting either visit a Pack Meeting or write Central Ohio Council, Boy Scouts of America, 1428 E. Broad St., Columbus 5, Ohio.

Pickaway District Cub Packs, their sponsors and Cubmaster are: Pack 52, Methodist Church, Pheris Krieger;

Pack 155, EUB Church, Cecil Pritchard; Pack 170, Lutheran Church, Walter Gilmore; Pack 179, Williamsport American Legion Post, Harry Heath;

Pack 205, Presbyterian Church, Charles F. Hull, and Pack 323, Washington Parent Teachers Organization, Billy Huffman.

Any lad desiring to become a Cub Scout is asked to contact any of the above Cubmasters or County Probate and Juvenile Judge Guy G. Cline, district chairman.

Retired Cop Is Brains in Vice Cleanup

CLEVELAND (AP)—A retired Cleveland policeman did the undercover work that led to the closing of two major gambling establishments in Canton Jan. 27, it was reported today.

But, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy said he has released John H. Jones as a special investigator. McElroy said:

"We are in the grand jury phase of our investigation now and feel it necessary to cut back our forces and expenses."

Jones, a colorful and controversial figure during his 38 years with the Cleveland Police Department, was paid $45 a day for his undercover work in Canton. Of that, $25 was regarded as expense money.

Jones, 65, worked as a special investigator since last August.

State authorities followed in Jones' trial and raided two important clearing house headquarters and arrested 27 men in Canton. The raids were led by assistant Atty. Gen. Joseph H. Ralston, who termed the establishments "important spots in the Stark County number operation."

They are being paid at the rate of $234,919.884 a year, the report to Gov. Michael V. DiSalle disclosed.

The governor said it was the first time a complete count of state employees had ever been made to his knowledge.

Only employees missing from the list were legislative judicial and unpaid employees of boards and commissions.

Leading the list of employees was the Mental Hygiene and Correction Department with 14,651 employees drawing $63,042,515 a year.

Second was Ohio State University and its hospital with 10,713 employees and a payroll of $35,541,215.

Other leaders included: Highway Department with 9,055 employees and a payroll of $43,477,000, during the slack season. Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, 2,542 and $11,584,414, and Liquor Department, 2,106 and $8,191,882.

The governor's office listed 17 employees drawing $120,196. DiSalle said a few employees were borrowed occasionally from other offices.

Pickaway County Boasts 4-H Champs

One of the highlights of 4-H club work is the awards that are given to boys and girls for their outstanding accomplishments in the 4-H program.

Pickaway County seems to be blessed with outstanding young people judging from the many award winners locally.

Roger Schneider, son of Mrs. Herman Hines, Route 4, is one of two 4-H youth from Ohio who has been selected to represent Ohio in the White House Conference on Children and Youth to be held in Washington D. C. on March 27-April 2. Roger is making this trip because of his achievement in 4-H club work.

Dwight Beougher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Judon Beougher, Route 1, Laurelville, won a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. He won this trip by being the outstanding 4-H member in Boy's Agriculture in Ohio.

Cheryl Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Martin, Route 2, Williamsport, received first place at the Ohio State Fair with her demonstration on Quality Milk and Cream Production. By winning this Cheryl received a trip to National Dairy Conference in Chicago.

JACK TARBILL, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Tarbill, Route 1, New Holland, was winner of the State Tractor Operator's Contest at the Ohio State Fair. The United States is divided into two regions for this contest. Jack went to Missouri and won first place in the Regional Contest.

Nancy Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wilson, Route 1, was appointed to represent 4-H on the Fair Board of the Ohio State Fair. This was won through her outstanding achievements in 4-H work.

Peggy Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clark, Route 2, and Linda Sharpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sharpe, Williamsport, won first place at the Ohio State Fair with their demonstration on Tractor Maintenance at the Ohio State Fair. They, too, received a trip to Ohio Club Congress.

Ralph England, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard England, and Norman Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wilson, both of Route 1, won first place with their demonstration on Tractor Maintenance at the Ohio State Fair. They, too, received a trip to Ohio Club Congress.

Besides these state and national awards, of which there are several more, we have many county awards that are too numerous to mention.

Awards play a big role in 4-H. They give members an incentive to do their work well and to carry out the 4-H motto, "To Do Our Best Better."

4th American Life Is Taken By Earthquake

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — The number of known American dead in the Agadir earthquake rose to four today with the death of Norman Bauer, 16, of Placentia, Calif. The total death toll has been estimated as high as 12,000.

Bauer and the girl were pulled alive from the wreckage, and the body of Mrs. Bauer was found March 2.

The father and daughter were flown to the U. S. Naval Hospital at Port Lyautey where the girl died, hospital authorities said.

Death was caused by a cerebral blood clot. Bauer is an executive of Login International Corp., of San Francisco, which operated fruit-juice concentrate and fish-meal plants in Agadir.

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) — A Moroccan carpenter and his 10-year-old son owe their lives to a sturdy workbench that sheltered them when the earthquakes shattered Agadir.

The two were pulled from the wreckage of their home Tuesday after having been trapped eight days. They were wedged beneath the workbench that held the carpenter's lathe.

The boy directed the rescuers, yelling instructions from beneath the wreckage.

Ohio Auto Racing Law Is Defined

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy ruled that auto racing, side by side, on a public road, without exceeding legal speed limits, is a violation of the new state law against drag racing.

In a formal opinion to Scott B. Radcliffe, superintendent of the highway patrol, McElroy said the reason for the law, enacted by the General Assembly last year, is to eliminate danger to persons and property resulting from the rapid acceleration and high speeds involved in drag racing competition.

The new law sets a maximum penalty of $500 fine and six months in jail, along with a six-point penalty against the driver's license record.

Leading the list of employees was the Mental Hygiene and Correction Department with 14,651 employees drawing $63,042,515 a year.

Second was Ohio State University and its hospital with 10,713 employees and a payroll of $35,541,215.

4th American Life Is Taken By Earthquake

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—The number of known American dead in the Agadir earthquake rose to four today with the death of No-rene Bauer, 16, of Placentia, Calif. The total death toll has been estimated as high as 12,000.

She was with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Werner Bauer, on the top floor of the Bella Vista Apartments when the quake struck, demolishing the building.

Bauer and the girl were pulled alive from the wreckage, and the body of Mrs. Bauer was found March 2.

The father and daughter were flown to the U. S. Naval Hospital at Port Lyautey where the girl died, hospital authorities said. Death was caused by a cerebral blood clot. Bauer is an executive of Login International Corp., of San Francisco, which operated fruit-juice concentrate and fishmeal plants in Agadir.

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—A Moroccan carpenter and his 10-year-old son owe their lives to a sturdy workbench that sheltered them when the earthquakes shattered Agadir.

The two were pulled from the wreckage of their home Tuesday after having been trapped eight days. They were wedged beneath the workbench that held the carpenter's lathe.

Walters, Hoover Pace Cage Scrap

The best game between the two top teams of the Central District Class "A" Basketball Tournament at Granville saw Ashville nudge Darby, 59-54, last night for a berth in the district finals Friday.

Pickaway County can be proud of the showing its two teams made as the Broncos came from a 10-point deficit in the first period to squeak by a Trojan quintet of valiant ball players.

The game was in doubt until 33 seconds were left in the final period. Stellar Bronco pivot man Bob Hoover notched two free throws to sweep Ashville into a five-point and insurmountable lead.

But never let it be said there is another team in Ohio who will offer Ashville a better ball game. Darby's Tommy Walters cinched himself a certain bid for All-Ohio honors with a tremendous exhibition of scoring and ball handling ability.

THE 5' 9" senior guard caressed the nets for 12 field goals out of 27 attempts for 44.4 per cent and 24 points to lead the Trojans.

Walters' performance was matched by All-Ohio candidate Hoover's 11 of 21 from the field for 52.4 per cent and four foul shots for game honors of 26 markers.

Webster's dictionary doesn't have enough adjectives to describe the play of these two youths. The ball turned into a weapon denting the Bronco armor when Walters had the agate and Hoover was never better in the clutch.

It was the consensus of all fans, both partisan and non-partisan, that Darby has one of the outstanding front-court duos in Ohio this year. Tommy Liff was terrific in guiding his teammates and chalking up points when Walters was bottled up, which was rare.

The never-say-die Liff rang the bucket for seven of 17 from the field and one free throw for 15 points. Jerry Vance also came to life with 7 of 8 from the charity stripe and one bucket for nine points to go along with some fine rebounding.

A deciding factor in Ashville's victory was the spectacular play of Dickie Hollenback. Throwing the tournament pressure to one side, Hollenback hit from 25 to 30 feet out on 5 of 10 attempts for 50 per cent and 10 valuable points.

TOM RATHBURN, the star of the Broncos' previous tourney play was kept away from the bucket by Darby's Tony Tufano and was held to 4 of 12 from the field and two free throws for 10 points.

The whirlwind tilt started in an uproar as Darby whizzed to a 4-0 lead on Walters and Liff's side shots before Hoover back-handed a two-pointer.

With Liff and Walters hitting their first six of seven from the field, strung around a corner shot by Alvin Cox and an under-the-basket two-pointer by Vance, the Trojans struck for a 16-8 first quarter lead.

Although Ashville was controlling the bankboards, they couldn't connect on tip-ins or bunnies. Darby started the second quarter playing deliberate ball, but Ashville soon wrecked this maneuver as Hoover notched eight points during the period with help from Rathburn and Phil Reese.

The Broncos started in a 3-2 zone, but Walters and Liff made short work of this defense. Coach Russell Gregg switched his squad to a full-court pressing man-to-man defense for the final three periods, which paid off.

During the second period Vance and Liff's free throws were interrupted only by Walters' two buckets as Ashville pulled to within two points at halftime, 22-20, outscoring Darby, 12-6.

HOOVER led all scorers during the first half with 12 points, followed by Walters' 10 and Liff's seven. The Trojans hit 40 per cent the first half to Ashville's 27.3.

Darby jumped to a 25-20 third stanza lead before Ashville went ahead, 26-25, on Dale Fout's tip-in, Hoover's rebound and Hollenback's corner field goal.

The lead changed hands three times before Ashville stormed to a 40-33 margin, its largest of the contest, during the latter part of the third quarter.

Walters, Liff and Tufano narrowed the count to 43-39 at the end of the third period. The game speeded up as Ashville rolled for 23 points to Darby's 17.

The Trojans immediately tied the score at the start of the fourth stanza on Walters' two fielders. Ashville went ahead again on Jimmy Gregg's free throw and Hoover's turn-around jump, then Darby roared into the lead, 48-46, as Liff, Vance and Cox connected.

Ashville came back on Hoover's foul shot, Rathburn's tip-in and Gregg's drive, before Darby again took the lead, 54-53, on Vance's two free throws, Walters' center shot and Liff's 20-footer.

HOLLENBACK popped in a 30-footer, Gregg slipped in for a two-pointer and Hoover iced the contest with two free throws. Twice during the rugged encounter Darby men were felled. Liff took a bad tumble and seconds later Cox was pummeled to the floor. Both hepped-up competitors were revived and continued to play.

Darby hit 12 of 29 the second half for 41.4 per cent, while the Broncos rallied with 17 of 32 field goal attempts for 53.1 per cent. The lead changed hands nine times and was tied twice during the battle of arch rivals.

Liff and Walters earned every shot they chalked as seen by the four assists the Trojans registered for the entire contest. Ashville recorded 14, led by Gregg's five and Hoover's four.

For the game, Darby connected on 22 of 53 from the floor for 41.5 per cent, compared to Ashville's 26 of 65 for 40 per cent. The foul line benefitted Darby as it hit 10 of 17 for 58.8 per cent.

Darby utilized a man-to-man defense throughout the game, going into a full court press at different times. Each committed 10 turnovers to show the evenness of the game.

ASHVILLE won on the bankboards where it usually limited Darby to one shot. The Trojans weren't as successful under the Ashville bucket.

Ashville fans, which made up a major portion of the more than 900 on hand, were mighty happy to see the top notch play of Hollenback, who loosened up Darby's tight middle defense and played a whale of a floor game along with Gregg.

Darby concluded its season in flying colors with a 15-8 record. The Broncos continue on the tournament trail with a 23-2 slate. They meet Radnor (17-6) in the district finals in the Ohio State Fairgrounds' Coliseum at 8:30 p. m. Friday.

Indians Put Francona in Cleanup Spot

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—When the Cleveland Indians play their first exhibition of the season here Saturday, Tito Francona will be batting in the cleanup spot.

The lineup announced by Manager Joe Gordon for the game against the San Francisco Giants has Jimmy Piersall leading off, followed by Bubba Phillips, John Temple, Francona, Colavito, Vic Power, Woodie Held, Russ Nixon or John Romano and the pitcher.

Gordon said he and General Manager Frank Lane had talked the matter over during the winter "and decided if Tito hits as well as he did last year he'll drive in as many runs as Rocky."

"Rocky leaves a lot of men on base by striking out so often," Gordon added. "Of course, with Power hitting behind him, the pitchers would have to be a little more careful."

Temple, acquired in a trade from Cincinnati, was a leadoff batter for years but is being tried in the No. 3 spot.

Cleveland Tech Heads Toward Another Crown

Third Straight Ohio Title Is Sought by Cuyahoga Combine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland East Tech, six victories away from its third straight Ohio high school Class AA basketball championship, makes its opening start in district play tonight.

The Scarabs, seeking to become the second team in 38 years to take the title three times in a row, go against Brecksville at Bedford. Each boasts an 18-1 record. East Tech having won 18 straight after dropping its opener.

Only Dayton Stivers in 1928, '29 and '30 has taken the big title three times in a row. Middletown had three chances to do it but lost out after winning consecutive titles in '26 and '27, '52 and '53 and '56 and '57.

Dayton Roosevelt, top team in the final Associated Press poll, in which East Tech finished second, gets into district action Friday night against Dayton Fairview.

Wednesday night's games saw the Class A contingent slashed to 49 teams and the Class AA squads to 56. Big fatalities were in Class A at Athens where Glenford ousted New Lexington St. Aloisius, the 1954 champion, and at Canton where Lowellville eliminated Akron St. Mary, the 1929 title winner.

Glenford, with a 20-5 record, while Lowellville ran its record to 22-1 with a 40-35 win over the Akron team.

Biggest upset of the evening occurred at Canton where Columbia Station (13-9) defeated Fairport Harbor (17-2) by 73-47.

Unbeaten New Boston, second-rated Class A poll squad, snowed under Buford 85-40 in Picketon action. Class AA combat was spiced by a pair of one-point decisions, Steubenville dropping Martins Ferry 77-76 and Cincinnati Roger Bacon ousting Cincinnati Purcell 57-56 in the thrillers. Cincinnati Central, which scored 114 and 108 points in successive sectional tilts last week, got its come-uppance from Cincinnati Withrow, 67-61.

Other top-notch games tonight in Class AA seed Lakewood, seventh in the AP poll, against Midview (19-1) at Berea; third-ranked Canton Timken against Minerva (20-1) at Canton; Newark's three-time state champions against Columbus Linden at Columbus and Marietta's fifth-ranked team against Portsmouth, 1931 champion, at Athens.

Heavy snow forced postponement of the district Class A semifinals Wednesday night at Wellston.

Most of the survivors play Friday night, setting the stage for Saturday finals from which only 16 teams in each division emerge for next week's regional play. Four regional winners in each class will advance to the state finals here March 25 and 26.

San Diego of the Pacific Coast League now has a working agreement with the Chicago White Sox. The Padres worked with Cleveland in 1959.

Broncs Anxiously Awaiting Finals Test with Radnor

Ashville enters the finals of the Central District Class "A" Basketball Tournament tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. in the Ohio State Fairgrounds' Coliseum against Radnor.

The smooth working Broncos are riding a 15-game winning streak and seven of these are in tourney competition. Overall, Ashville is 23-2 on the year, the best record posted by a county team in several years.

TOP PLAY-MAKER and scorer is Bobby James, a 6' 1" guard who occasionally plays a high post. Other first team regular is Doug Firtenberger, a 6' 5" pivot man who fades away when he shoots and is an adept rebounder.

Other starters include Roger Waddell, Goodin and Garrison. But early in the second quarter against Northwestern, Radnor Coach Richard Meyer substituted three men who played the rest of the game.

They were White, Sellers and Fryman. White, a six-footer, moved into the high post and James went to the side. Sellers, a 5' 7" guard, picked up Radnor's offense with his drive-ins off the high post.

Radnor uses both a man-to-man and zone defenses of 3-2 and 1-2-2. Its offense takes the form of 2-2-1 with two guards out, two forward on the deep sides and Firtenberger underneath.

Radnor will match Ashville's bench strength and come close to equaling its height. It starts four

The Broncos realized that from now on its just luck and the breaks. Most of the teams left in Class A are on an equal status and on a given night any team could knock off the other.

THE BRONCOS seem to be working out their kinks in good shape as seen by the revived play of Dickie Hollenback and the tremendous substitute performance of Dale Fout.

The Broncos shook loose from their full court press shakes and broke up Darby's press last night with a fine fast break which saw

Sidelights ...

Ashville Coach Russell Gregg last night had the highest praise for the play of Darby's Tommy Walters and Tommy Liff stating, "Pickaway County has never had the equal of those two boys."

Walters tickled the nets for 24 points and Liff racked up 15 in the Trojans 59-54 loss to Gregg's smooth-working Bronco quintet in the semifinals of the Central District Class "A" Basketball Tournament last night at Granville.

It was the third time Ashville and Darby had met this season, so Gregg should be an authority on the Trojans by now.

WALTERS capped his career with a 23.7 average in his senior year and Liff registered a 19.5 average. Coach Gregg said his quintet couldn't hope to stop the play of the two scoring twins, but added "I don't think we'll run into two guards the likes of these two for a long time to come."

Three buses were chartered — two by Ashville and one by Darby for the trip to Granville. Most bus riders agreed that was the way to travel.

The buses left Ashville at 5:40 p. m. and arrived in Granville at 7:30 p. m. Fighting rain, sleet, freezing rain and snow was tiresome for the bus drivers and frozen rain clogged their windshields.

One driver aptly stated it when he said, "It's suicide to send basketball fans out on highways like these tonight." More than five inches of snow fell last night and highways were turned into quagmires of snow and ice.

Better time was made on the Fout (4.1) and Bob Hoover (20.9) riddle Darby's defense.

Jimmy Gregg (5.5) continued his stellar floor game and increased the tempo of Ashville's offense with his drive-ins.

If Ashville performs as in the past against control type ball clubs, it will start slow, adjusting to its opponents attack, and then overpower them in the second half.

Pickaway County Superintendent George M. McDowell accompanied Ashville and Darby fans to the contest. He said it had been up to his department the tourney contest would have been cancelled.

BUT ACCORDING to McDowell, Pickaway County had no say in the game. He said it was strictly in the hands of the Central District Committee, which is run by Ralph T. Webster.

McDowell stated district officials refused to cancel the game and that if one team hadn't shown up, the district would have forfeited the tilt to their opponent.

District officials felt it was necessary to play the game because the finals are Friday and one day's rest may have handicapped the Ashville-Darby winner.

There were no reports of any cage fans suffering accidents and all can be thankful of that. This marked the fourth straight night of county competition at Granville that miserable weather has been experienced.

March 2 found Ashville and Darby playing in their openers. The roads were clear going up, but upon leaving Denison University's Livingston gymnasium after the two games, fans were greeted with three inches of the white nemesis.

Last Thursday and Friday were no better. Total snowfall reached four inches, packing on highways to depths of one to two inches.

And what do you think the weather report is for tomorrow? Your right! More snow. "Mush".

New Program at CHS Stresses Training for All Athletes

A "Tiger Training Program" was initiated this week at Circleville High School.

The new program, designed to stress athlete conditioning, will be headed by grid Coach Carl Benhase with the help of other coaches.

The emphasis will be placed on getting candidates ready for the coming football season. The new program will be carried out in conjunction with spring sports at CHS.

Coach Benhase said the training work will not interfere with track and baseball, noting that all activity will be conducted jointly with the same goal in mind.

BENHASE already has compiled and distributed booklets which explain his program. Parents are urged to read the information and encourage their sons to take part in the activity.

Much of the training will be devoted to weight lifting. Coach Benhase and his assistants have started making bar-bells using large

cans, cement and iron pipe. Local persons having discarded small gauge iron pipe are requested to contact Benhase.

The football coach said progress and achievement charts will be kept on each athlete during the program.

Stock Indexes Are Causes of Wonderment

Both Pro, Amateur
Keep Close Watch
On Indicators

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street pros and amateur index-watchers across the country—many owning no stock at all—shivered Tuesday when the Dow-Jones industrial index dipped below 600.

Yet it's a good bet that few of the amateurs could name the 30 stocks in the index or explain how the closing index figure of 599.10 was arrived at, especially since the actual dollar average of the 30 stocks that day was only $73.03.

A few may even think that $99.10 is the dollar average of the 30 stocks rather than a percentage of the index level that existed during a base period.

But stock market averages—such as Dow Jones industrial, the Associated Press 60-stock index, and Standard & Poor's 500 stock index—are closely followed by pros, amateurs, and much of the general public.

Thus newspaper readers noted that the Dow Jones hadn't been below 600 since Feb. 19, 1956, and by Jan. 4 of this year had reached 685.

So the drop below 600 brings wonderment about what's coming next.

Indexes usually reflect accurately the changes in market trend, which is all they're designed to do. They don't show the trend of individual stocks or particular industries. Often these are going in the opposite direction from the index.

The oldest index is the Dow Jones, which started Jan. 2, 1887 with 12 stocks whose average that day was 41, at that time in both percentage points and dollars.

The AP 60-stock average has been compiled since 1935, although for comparison it was carried back to Jan. 1, 1927. Its range in 1935 was 61.8 to 83.7. It was compiled by simple arithmetic—just adding up the stock prices and dividing by 60.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index started March 1, 1957, but uses the base years 1941-43 to get its percentage comparisons. Dow Jones and AP use market leaders. Standard & Poor's uses about half of the issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange, but the stocks used represent about 90 per cent of the value of all stocks held by investors.

The present Dow Jones index and AP's to a much less degree, bears scant resemblance to the original.

Only two stocks now in the Dow Jones index were in the original, and even these were out of it for some time. Three of the original 12 companies no longer exist. Another is now a division of a present index occupant. Four stocks were dropped last year and four others substituted.

The index number was raised to 20 in 1916 and to 30 in 1928. Simple arithmetic had to be given up. There have been so many stock splits, stock dividends, and substitutions of companies that just adding the 30 up and dividing by 30 couldn't give a true picture of the percentage of change.

So divisors are used. Dow Jones first started dividing the 30 stocks by 15 instead of 30. This sent the index figure well above the dollar average on any particular day. The divisor has had to be lowered again and again. At the start of 1960 the total dollar value of the 30 stocks was divided by 3.83.

That is why, when Tuesday's index figure of 599.10 was down 4.92 points from Monday's close, the dollar average of $73.03 was down only $1 from Monday's average of the actual price of one share each of the 30.

Why divisors are needed can be seen in what happened to the 35 utilities in the AP index between this Monday and Tuesday.

Monday the utility index was 97.3, the divisor was 7.97, and the dollar average $49.54. But Tuesday a 3-1 split in one of the utilities used went into effect. To compensate for that, the utility divisor was lowered to 7.64. Tuesday's utility index closed at 97.3 for a loss of two tenths of one per cent for the day.

Canton Cafe Owner Held in Vice Case

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A Canton restaurant operator was charged with possession of obscene pictures, a felony under state law, after police said they found four reels of obscene movie film in his office. Morals Bureau officers arrested Michael A. Roscoe, 33, Wednesday night after raiding his restaurant, the Kozy Kitchen. Roscoe was held in city jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

'HERTER UNHAPPY, YES'
After listening to U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter strongly denounce Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro for 20 minutes, Cuba's top diplomat to the State department, Cuban Embassy Charge d'Affaires Dr. Enrique Patterson (right), tells Washington newsmen, "I think he (Herter) is unhappy, yes." Herter declared Castro's implication that the American government was responsible for the explosion of a French munitions ship in Havana harbor was "baseless, erroneous and misleading."

Home Buyers in Ohio See Mortgage Rate Zooming Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prospective home buyers in Ohio are finding things tough these days. Interest rates on mortgages are zooming upward.

That isn't all. Anyone wanting to buy with an FHA mortgage must pay the money lender an extra fee for the privilege.

This tight money situation, of course, is a national phenomenon. However, it happens that a state-by-state survey on specific communities was taken in January for the House Banking Subcommittee on Housing.

The survey shows that in Ohio home buyers and sellers have been paying as much as 12 per cent of the amount of an FHA loan to banks and savings and loan groups as an extra premium.

This is the way it works: A home buyer approved for an FHA loan can have it if the lender is paid a certain number of percentage points. This is known as the discount.

By law, the buyer can't be charged more than one point, or one per cent of the loan. So where 10 points are charged for example, he pays one per cent and the seller pays nine per cent.

On an $18,000 loan, then, they pay the lender $1,800 as an extra fee. On top of that the buyer will be paying 6 per cent in interest and insurance on his FHA loan.

Here is the mortgage situation in various Ohio communities, as of last Jan. 26, as described by local Home Builder Assn. officials:

Cincinnati—FHA loans, 5 points; GI loans, 10 to 11 points; conventional loans, sometimes 6 1/2 per cent interest and 2 points.

Columbus—FHA, 4 to 6 points; GI, 8 to 10 where available.

DAYTON — FHA, 1 point discount where available, conventional loans 6 to 7 per cent interest.

Fremont — No FHA available; conventional loans, 6 1/2 per cent.

Elyria—FHA, 5 points.

Lima—FHA, 5 to 8 points; conventional loans going to 7 per cent interest.

Mansfield—FHA, 4 to 5 points; conventional loans, 6 1/2 to 7 per cent.

Marietta—FHA, 4 1/2 to 6 points.

Springfield—FHA, 4 to 10 points.

C. C. Conn, secretary, Clark County Home Builders Assn., says: "We feel points should be abolished and have all costs out in the open."

Canton—FHA, 4 to 12 points; conventional loans, 6 to 7 per cent interest, plus 1 point.

Toledo—FHA, 3 to 6 points; conventional loans, 6 per cent average.

Youngstown—FHA, 5 to 8 points; conventional loans, 6 to 6 1/2 per cent interest, plus 4 to 7 points.

Electrical Union OKs

New Pact in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 27-month contract negotiated here with Reliance Electric & Engineering Co. was approved Wednesday by members of Local 737, International Union of Electrical Workers.

The pact provides for a package wage increase estimated at 21 cents an hour for 1,000 employees at plants here and in Ashtabula. Improved fringe benefits also are provided.

Train Hits Car; Young Woman only Scratched

CLEVELAND (AP)—Hand abrasions were the only apparent injuries suffered by Mrs. Richard L. Snow, 19, of Rocky River, when a Nickel Plate engine rammed her stalled car at a suburban Lakewood crossing. Mrs. Snow was thrown out by the impact Wednesday. The engine of the 100-car freight train, traveling about 25 m.p.h., dragged the car 15 to 20 feet.

Graciousness

Graciousness is the rarest attribute a motor car can possess. Yet, even a cursory inspection of the 1960 Cadillac reveals it in fullest measure. It is instantly visible in the classic symmetry of Cadillac styling. It is epitomized in the warm welcome extended by the richly beautiful and generously spacious interiors. Even performance portrays it in the superlatively smooth ride and quietly authoritative response. Your Cadillac dealer invites you to confirm the value of this unique Cadillac virtue with a sixty-minute ride.

Walters, Hoover Pace Cage Scrap

The best game between the two top teams of the Central District Class "A" Basketball Tournament at Granville saw Ashville nudge Darby, 59-54, last night for a berth in the district finals Friday.

Pickaway County can be proud of the showing its two teams made as the Broncos came from a 10-point deficit in the first period to squeak by a Trojan quintet of valiant ball players.

The game was in doubt until 33 seconds were left in the final period. Stellar Bronco pivot man Bob Hoover notched two free throws to sweep Ashville into a five-point and insurmountable lead.

But never let it be said there is another team in Ohio who will offer Ashville a better ball game. Darby's Tommy Walters cinched himself a certain bid for All-Ohio honors with a tremendous exhibition of scoring and ball handling ability.

THE 5' 9" senior guard cased the nets for 12 field goals out of 27 attempts for 44.4 per cent and 24 points to lead the Trojans.

Walters' performance was matched by All-Ohio candidate Hoover's 11 of 21 from the field for 52.4 per cent and four foul shots for game honors of 26 markers.

Webster's dictionary doesn't have enough adjectives to describe the play of these two youths. The ball turned into a weapon denting the Bronco armor when Walters had the agate and Hoover was never better in the clutch.

It was the consensus of all fans, both partisan and non-partisan, that Darby has one of the outstanding front-court duos in Ohio this year. Tommy Liff was terrific in guiding his teammates and chalking up points when Walters was bottled up, which was rare.

The never-say-die Liff rang the bucket for seven of 17 from the field and one free throw for 15 points. Jerry Vance also came to life with 7 of 8 from the charity stripe and one bucket for nine points to go along with some fine rebounding.

A deciding factor in Ashville's victory was the spectacular play of Dickie Hollenback. Throwing the tournament pressure to one side, Hollenback hit from 25 to 30 feet out on 5 of 10 attempts for 50 per cent and 10 valuable points.

TOM RATHBURN, the star of the Broncos' previous tourney play was kept away from the bucket by Darby's Tony Tufano and was held to 4 of 12 from the field and two free throws for 10 points.

The whirlwind tilt started in an uproar as Darby whizzed to a 4-0 lead on Walters and Liff's side shots before Hoover back-handed a two-pointer.

With Liff and Walters hitting their first six of seven from the field, strung around a corner shot by Alvin Cox and an under-the-bucket two-pointer by Vance, the Trojans struck for a 16-8 first quarter lead.

Although Ashville was controlling the bankboards, they couldn't connect on tip-ins or bunnies. Darby started the second quarter playing deliberate ball, but Ashville soon wrecked this maneuver as Hoover notched eight points during the period with help from Rathburn and Phil Reese.

The Broncos started in a 3-2 zone, but Walters and Liff made short work of this defense. Coach Russell Gregg switched his squad to a full-court pressing man-to-man defense for the final three periods, which paid off.

During the second period Vance and Liff's free throws were interrupted only by Walters' two buckets as Ashville pulled to within two points at halftime, 22-20, outscoring Darby, 12-6.

HOOVER led all scorers during the first half with 12 points, followed by Walters' 10 and Liff's seven. The Trojans hit 40 per cent the first half to Ashville's 27.3.

Darby jumped to a 25-20 third stanza lead before Ashville went ahead, 26-25, on Dale Fout's tip-in, Hoover's rebound and Hollenback's corner field goal.

The lead changed hands three times before Ashville stormed to a 40-33 margin, its largest of the contest, during the latter part of the third quarter.

Walters, Liff and Tufano narrowed the count to 43-39 at the end of the third period. The game speeded up as Ashville rolled for 23 points to Darby's 17.

The Trojans immediately tied the score at the start of the fourth stanza on Walters' two fielders. Ashville went ahead again on Jimmy Gregg's free throw and Hoover's turn-around jump, then Darby roared into the lead, 48-46, as Liff, Vance and Cox connected.

Ashville came back on Hoover's foul shot, Rathburn's tip-in and Gregg's drive, before Darby again took the lead, 54-53, on Vance's two free throws, Walters' center shot and Liff's 20-footer.

HOLLENBACK popped in a 30-footer, Gregg slipped in for a two-

Cleveland Tech Heads Toward Another Crown

Third Straight Ohio Title Is Sought by Cuyahoga Combine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland East Tech, six victories away from its third straight Ohio high school Class AA basketball championship, makes its opening start in district play tonight.

The Scarabs, seeking to become the second team in 38 years to take the title three times in a row, go against Brecksville at Bedford. Each boasts an 18-1 record. East Tech having won 18 straight after dropping its opener.

Only Dayton Sifers in 1928, '29 and '30 has taken the big title three times in a row. Middletown had three chances to do it but lost out after winning consecutive titles in '26 and '27, '28 and '33 and '36 and '37.

Dayton Roosevelt, top team in the final Associated Press poll, in which East Tech finished second, gets into district action Friday night against Dayton Fairview.

Wednesday night's games saw the Class A contingent slashed to 49 teams and the Class AA squads to 56. Big fatalities were in Class A at Athens where Glenford ousted New Lexington St. Aloisius, the 1954 champion, and at Canton where Lowellville eliminated Akron St. Mary, the 1929 title winner.

Glenford, with a 20-5 record, while Lowellville ran its record to 22-1 with a 40-35 win over the Akron team.

Biggest upset of the evening occurred at Canton where Columbia Station (13-9) defeated Fairport Harbor (17-2) by 73-47.

Unbeaten New Boston, second-rated Class A squad, snowed under Buford 85-40 in Piquette action. Class AA combat was spiced by a pair of one-point decisions, Steubenville dropping Martins Ferry 77-76 and Cincinnati Roger Bacon ousting Cincinnati Purcell 57-56 in the thriller. Cincinnati Central, which scored 114 and 108 points in successive sectional tilts last week, got its come-uppance from Cincinnati Withrow, 67-61.

Other top-notch games tonight in Class AA seed Lakewood, seventh in the AP poll, against Midview (19-1) at Berea; third-ranked Canton Timken against Minerva (20-1) at Canton; Newark's three-time state champions against Columbus Linden at Columbus and Marietta's fifth-ranked team against Portsmouth, 1931 champion, at Athens.

Heavy snow forced postponement of the district Class A semifinals Wednesday night at Wellston.

Most of the survivors play Friday night, setting the stage for Saturday finals from which only 16 teams in each division emerge for next week's regional play.

Four regional winners in each class will advance to the state finals here March 25 and 26.

San Diego of the Pacific Coast League now has a working agreement with the Chicago White Sox. The Padres worked with Cleveland in 1959.

Broncos Anxiously Awaiting Finals Test with Radnor

Ashville enters the finals of the Central District Class "A" Basketball Tournament tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. in the Ohio State Fairgrounds' Coliseum against Radnor.

The smooth working Broncos are riding a 15-game winning streak and seven of these are in tourney competition. Overall, Ashville is 23-2 on the year, the best record posted by a county team in several years.

Their opponent, Radnor, sports a 17-6 slate and an upset win over Union County's Northwestern in the district semifinals at Marion, 46-42.

Radnor is a possession type ball club that works the ball into the foul circle or corners before getting off its shots. It takes a few long shots.

TOP PLAY-MAKER and scorer is Bobby James, a 6' 1" guard who occasionally plays a high post. Other first team regular is Doug Firstenberger, a 6' 5" pivot man who fades away when he shoots and is an adept rebounder.

Other starters include Roger Waddell, Goodin and Garrison. But early in the second quarter against Northwestern, Radnor Coach Richard Meyer substituted three men who played the rest of the game.

They were White, Sellers and Fryman. White, a six-footer, moved into the high post and James went to the side. Sellers, a 5' 7" guard, picked up Radnor's offense with his drive-ins off the high post.

Radnor uses both a man-to-man and zone defenses of 3-2 and 1-2-2. Its offense takes the form of 3-2-1 with two guards out, two forward on the deep sides and Firstenberger underneath.

Radnor will match Ashville's bench strength and come close to equaling its height. It starts four juniors and a sophomore. The Broncos realized that from now on its just luck and the breaks. Most of the teams left in Class A are on an equal status and on a given night any team could knock off the other.

THE BRONCOS seem to be working out their kinks in good shape as seen by the revived play of Dickie Hollenback and the tremendous substitute performance of Dale Fout.

The Broncos shook loose from their full-court press shakes and broke up Darby's press last night with a fine fast break which saw

Sidelights . . .

Ashville Coach Russell Gregg last night had the highest praise for the play of Darby's Tommy Walters and Tommy Liff stating, "Pickaway County has never had the equal of these two boys."

Walters tickled the nets for 24 points and Liff racked up 15 in the Trojans 59-54 loss to Gregg's smooth-working Bronco quintet in the semifinals of the Central District Class "A" Basketball Tournament last night at Granville.

It was the third time Ashville and Darby had met this season, so Gregg should be an authority on the Trojans by now.

Walters and Liff certainly climaxed their varsity career in fine style. No one questioned their claim to being the best front court combination in Ohio today.

WALTERS capped his career with a 23.7 average in his senior year and Liff registered a 19.5 average. Coach Gregg said his quintet couldn't hope to stop the play of the two scoring twins, but added "I don't think we'll run into two guards the likes of these two for a long time to come."

Three buses were chartered—two by Ashville and one by Darby for the trip to Granville. Most bus riders agreed that was the way to travel.

The buses left Ashville at 5:40 p. m. and arrived in Granville at 7:30 p. m. Fighting rain, sleet, freezing rain and snow were tire-some for the bus drivers and frozen rain clogged their windshields.

One driver aptly stated it when he said, "Its suicide to send basketball fans out on highways like these tonight." More than five inches of snow fell last night and highways were turned into quadrines of snow and ice.

Better time was made on the Foot (4.1) and Bob Hoover (20.9) riddle Darby's defense.

Hoover struck in the clutch to take up the scoring slack of Tom Rathburn (16.6). Dickie Hollenback (9.3) hit from 30 feet out to loosen up Darby's tight middle hind around Bob Hoover.

Jimmy Gregg (5.5) continued his stellar floor game and increased the tempo of Ashville's offense with his drive-ins.

If Ashville performs as in the past against control type ball clubs, it will start slow, adjusting to its opponents attack, and then overpower them in the second half.

Pickaway County Superintendent George M. McDowell accompanied Ashville and Darby fans to the contest. He said it had been up to his department the tourney contest would have been cancelled.

BUT ACCORDING to McDowell, Pickaway County had no say in the game. He said it was strictly in the hands of the Central District Committee, which is run by Ralph T. Webster.

McDowell stated district officials refused to cancel the game and that if one team hadn't shown up, the district would have forfeited the tilt to their opponent.

District officials felt it was necessary to play the game because the finals are Friday and one day's rest may have handicapped the Ashville-Darby winner.

There were no reports of any cage fans suffering accidents and all can be thankful of that. This marked the fourth straight night of county competition at Granville that miserable weather has been experienced.

March 2 found Ashville and Darby playing in their openers. The roads were clear going up, but upon leaving Denison University's Livingston gymnasium after the two games, fans were greeted with three inches of the white nemesis.

Last Thursday and Friday were no better. Total snowfall reached four inches, packing on highways to depths of one to two inches.

Thursday fans drove on packed snow. Friday motorists were greeted with a glaze of ice formed by melted snow and drifts.

New Program at CHS Stresses Training for All Athletes

A "Tiger Training Program" was initiated this week at Circleville High School.

The new program, designed to stress athlete conditioning, will be headed by grid Coach Carl Benhase with the help of other coaches.

The emphasis will be placed on getting candidates ready for the coming football season. The new program will be carried out in conjunction with spring sports at CHS.

Coach Benhase said the training work will not interfere with track and baseball, noting that all activity will be conducted jointly with the same goal in mind.

BENHASE already has compiled and distributed booklets which explain his program. Parents are urged to read the information and encourage their sons to take part in the activity.

Much of the training will be devoted to weight lifting. Coach Benhase and his assistants have started making bar-bells using large

cans, cement and iron pipe. Local persons having discarded small gauge iron pipe are requested to contact Benhase.

The football coach said progress and achievement charts will be kept on each athlete during the program.

Preview Is Held On Pro Playoff

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Eastern and Western Division semifinal playoffs in the National Basketball Assn. were on display prematurely Wednesday night.

The Syracuse Nats, who meet Philadelphia Friday night in the start of the Eastern best-of-three, splurged in the closing minutes to defeat the Warriors 137-126.

Detroit, which opens its series with Minneapolis Saturday night, nipped the Lakers 117-116, also on a closing rally.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

'Exceptional' Is Correct

DEAR ABBY: You printed a letter from a father who said, regarding his retarded child, "I am proud that God singled me out to care for one of his exceptional children."

The fact that this father had found psychological adjustment for his tragedy is commendable, but I think "feeling proud" is carrying it to the extreme.

I object. Furthermore, I am very much concerned about the increasing abuse and misuse of the word "exceptional" for the retarded child. It causes much confusion and unless checked will change the true meaning of the word.

EXCEPTIONAL as defined by Webster means, "uncommon superior, extraordinary, remarkable." It implies something to be desired!

To try to confuse the retarded child, who is below normal in intelligence, with the truly exceptional child is not only ridiculous but dishonest.

Will you, Dear Abby, please help us preserve the true meaning of words and discontinue using the word EXCEPTIONAL when referring to the retarded child?

ENLIGHTENED
DEAR ENLIGHTENED: You rattled the wrong cage! The feelings of one parent are more important to me than the "true meanings" of all the words in Webster's dictionary. Only the good Lord (and the parents themselves) know the chronic heartache endured by parents of retarded children. And if these parents derive the tiniest bit of comfort from using the word "exceptional" instead of retarded—who am I to object? And who are you?

DEAR ABBY: Our 14-year-old boy loves sports of all kinds. This year he made the freshman basketball team. His Dad and I go to all the games. His Dad was a very good athlete himself at one time so he gave the boy some helpful suggestions on what he was doing wrong. (He didn't do it in a rough or mean way to hurt him.)

Our son asked us to please not come to any more games. He says we make him nervous and he makes too many mistakes.

WORRIED MOM
DEAR MOM: The boy is probably not playing as well as he could because he is self-conscious. Stay away. When he starts turning in performances of which HE is proud, he'll beg you to come.

DEAR ABBY: My son (he is 19) wants to bring his girl friend home from college some weekend. She will be staying two nights. Is it all right for her to stay at our home? We have a guest bedroom. My husband and I will be here at all times. Another thing, should my son pay for her bus ticket? They are not engaged and we have never met her.

MOM IN DOUBT
DEAR MOM: Under the circumstances, it is proper for the girl to stay at your home. She should, however, buy her own bus ticket.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DuPont Lists Two Transfers

Recently assigned here are W. B. Gordon and James F. Muhlig. Both are veteran DuPont employees.

Gordon hails from Appomattox, Va., graduating from Appomattox High School in 1942 and the University of Richmond in 1948 where he earned a BS in chemistry.

He served two years in the U. S. Navy and joined DuPont in 1948 as a chemist at the cellphane plant in Richmond.

GORDON served as a foreman in the control group at Richmond, later seeing service at the Tumsesh Cellphane plant in Kansas. He worked in the control and production departments at Kansas. He comes here as a supervisor in production.

Muhlig comes from Old Hickory, Tenn., and graduated from Du Pont High School there in 1948. His advanced schooling was at Tennessee Polytechnic Institute where he received a BS in mechanical engineering in 1956.

He joined DuPont in 1956 as a maintenance engineer at Old Hickory.

Muhlig has experience as a foreman in maintenance and in production at Old Hickory. He was assigned here in the same capacity.

Voting Residence Requirement Told

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The federal government has recognized that the state, city or county and township in which a person lived before entering military service is usually considered his legal residence for voting purposes, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown announced.

He replied to a request from Dwight W. Barnett, Greene County Republican chairman, for help in determining where military personnel connected with Wright-Patterson Air Force Base should vote in the coming elections.

Barnett asked Brown and the Greene County election board to review questions concerning voting privileges for military personnel residing in that county.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Supermarket meat experts turn to pork this week in an attempt to catch the shopper's eye.

Indications are, however, that pork prices are likely to move higher in the next few months. Recent Chicago live hog prices were up nearly 25 per cent since the first of the year and the seasonal price swing normally is upward as production gradually falls.

Porterhouse steak and chuck roast—the high and low notes on beef's popular price scale — are the specials in a few places, with steak marked down in one or two. Other prices generally are mixed with scattered small increases balanced by similar declines.

Eggs are stronger in some sections.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

'Exceptional' Is Correct

DEAR ABBY: You printed a letter from a father who said, regarding his retarded child, "I am proud that God singled me out to care for one of his exceptional children."

The fact that this father had found psychological adjustment for his tragedy is commendable, but I think "feeling proud" is carrying it to the extreme.

I object. Furthermore, I am

very much concerned about the increasing abuse and misuse of the word "exceptional" for the retarded child. It causes much confusion and unless checked will change the true meaning of the word.

EXCEPTIONAL as defined by Webster means, "uncommon superior, extraordinary, remarkable." It implies something to be desired!

To try to confuse the retarded child, who is below normal in intelligence, with the truly exceptional child is not only ridiculous but dishonest.

Will you, Dear Abby, please help us preserve the true meaning of words and discontinue using the word EXCEPTIONAL when referring to the retarded child?

ENLIGHTENED

DEAR ENLIGHTENED: The feelings of one parent are more important to me than the "true meanings" of all the words in Webster's dictionary. Only the good Lord (and the parents themselves) know the chronic heartache endured by parents of retarded children. And if these parents derive the tiniest bit of comfort from using the word "exceptional" instead of retarded—who am I to object? And who are you?

DEAR ABBY: Our 14-year-old boy loves sports of all kinds. This year he made the freshman basketball team. His Dad and I go to all the games. His Dad was a very good athlete himself at one time so he gave the boy some helpful suggestions on what he was doing wrong. (He didn't do it in a rough or mean way to hurt him.)

Our son asked us to please not come to any more games. He says we make him nervous and he makes too many mistakes.

We are very put out and want to know if we should stay away or go anyway and explain that we are going because we are proud of him.

DEAR MOM: The boy is probably not playing as well as he could because he is self-conscious. Stay away. When he starts turning in performances of which HE is proud, he'll beg you to come.

DEAR ABBY: My son (he is 19) wants to bring his girl friend home from college some weekend. She will be staying two nights. Is it all right for her to stay at our home? We have a guest bedroom. My husband and I will be here at all times. Another thing, should my son pay for her bus ticket? They are not engaged and we have never met her.

MOM IN DOUBT
DEAR MOM: Under the circumstances, it is proper for the girl to stay at your home. She should, however, buy her own bus ticket.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DuPont Lists Two Transfers

Local DuPont officials today announced the transfer of two employees to the plant here.

Recently assigned here are W. B. Gordon and James F. Muhlig. Both are veteran DuPont employees.

Gordon hails from Appomattox, Va., graduating from Appomattox High School in 1942 and the University of Richmond in 1948 where he earned a BS in chemistry.

He served two years in the U. S. Navy and joined DuPont in 1948 as a chemist at the cellphane plant in Richmond.

GORDON served as a foreman in the control group at Richmond, later seeing service at the Tecumseh Cellophane plant in Kansas. He worked in the control and production departments at Kansas. He comes here as a supervisor in production.

Muhlig comes from Old Hickory, Tenn. and graduated from Du Pont High School there in 1948. His advanced schooling was at Tennessee Polytechnic Institute where he received a BS in mechanical engineering in 1956.

He joined DuPont in 1956 as a maintenance engineer at Old Hickory.

Muhlig has experience as a foreman in maintenance and in production at Old Hickory. He was assigned here in the same capacity.

Voting Residence Requirement Told

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The federal government has recognized that the state, city or county and township in which a person lived before entering military service is usually considered his legal residence for voting purposes, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown announced.

He replied to a request from Dwight W. Barnett, Greene County Republican chairman, for help in determining where military personnel connected with Wright-Patterson Air Force Base should vote in the coming elections.

Barnett asked Brown and the Greene County election board to review questions concerning voting privileges for military personnel residing in that county.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Supermarket meat experts turn to pork this week in an attempt to catch the shopper's eye.

A variety of pork cuts are offered over wide areas. Some stores plug semi-boneless hams while others feature the smaller, less expensive picnic hams and smoked butts. Other cuts listed include shoulder roast, chops loins, spare ribs and bacon.

Indications are, however, that pork prices are likely to move higher in the next few months. Recent Chicago live hog prices were up nearly 25 per cent since the first of the year and the seasonal price swing normally is upward as production gradually falls.

Porterhouse steak and chuck roast—the high and low notes on beef's popular price scale—are the specials in a few places, with steak marked down in one or two. Other prices generally are mixed with scattered small increases balanced by similar declines.

Eggs are stronger in some sections.
